Conference on Laymen's Missionary Movement—First Presbyterian church, Wednesday night.

Joint Conference on Foreign Missions—First Presbyterian church, Wednesday night.

Conference on Missions by U. S. A. Commissioners—Harris street church Wednesday morning and afternoon.

When an earnest gathering of the Presbyterian educational leaders in the south met yesterday afternoon for the opening of the conference on education, their meeting launched the great conclave of the Presbyterians of America, which is to draw the eyes of all the world toward Atlanta for the next ten days.

This was the first of a series of conferences which are to continue through Wednesday night, and in which evangelism, education and missions will be discussed in all their forms, and in which many important men will take leading parts. These conferences will lead up to the convening of the United Presbyterian assembly Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Central Presbyterian church, and the convening Thursday morning of the Northern and Southern assemblies in the Baptist Tabernacle and the North Avenue Presbyterian church, respectively. The first great joint assembly will be held on Thursday night, at the Auditorium, where for the first time in the history of the world the Presbyterians of four great bodies will gather together.

"Poor Boys a Great Asset."

At the educational conference Tuesday afternoon, which was held in the First, Baptist church, the central thought was that the poor boys are the universities are one of the south's greatest assets. This statement was made and explained in detail by Rev. Edgar Tufts, president of Lees-McRae college, Banner Elk, N. C., and by Dr. T. P. Junkin, president of Daniel-Baker college, Brownwills, Texas.

"How to assist these poor but ambitious boys to gain their education is one of the greatest problems which our Presbyterian universities are facing," said Dr. Tufts. "But we are solving it in many ways, which can all be improved upon. There should be more of the smaller primary school, located in the country districts, for these lay the foundation of education among the poorer children and pave the way for them to work their way afterward through college."

Splendid talks on education were also made by Rev. Joseph P. Hall, of Plumtree, N. C., and by Dr. H. H. Sweets, of Louisville, Ky., the latter being secretary of the educational committee of the Presbyterian church. S. H. who planned the educational conference.

Dr. Gaines Heads Conference.

Dr. F. H. Gaines, president of Agnes Scott college, of Decatur, Ga., was elected chairman of the conference. Dr. S. C. Byrd, president of Chicora college, Greenville, S. C., was elected vice-chairman, and Dr. T. P. Junkin, who made one of the leading addresses on college problems, was chosen secretary. Dr. Sweets was elected chairman of a committee which will draft resolutions to be presented to the assembly.

The first session of the conference was followed in the evening by a discussion of the problem, "How to Maintain a Thoroughly Christian Atmosphere," which was led by Dr. W. J. Martin, of Davidson College, N. C., and in which many others joined in, including Dr. William Dinwiddie, of Clarksville, Tenn.; Rev. T. W. Raymond, of Holly Springs, Miss., and Rev. Charles B. Boving, of Fulton, Mo.

Wednesday's session of this conference will consist in the morning an address by Dr. C. G. Wardell, of Red Springs, N. C., on "The Place of the Church School in the Educational Work in America"; in the afternoon, an address by Dr. Walter L. Lingle, of Richmond, Va., president of Union Theological seminary and former pastor of the First church in Atlanta, whose subject will be "What Can the General Assembly Do for Her Schools?"; and addresses in the evening by President J. Knox Montgomery, of Muskingum college, New Concord, Ohio, and Dr. T. S. Clyce, of Commissioners in Long Discussion Over Appointment of Sergt. Foster's Successor, but Reach No Decision.

NOT A FIGHT ON CHIEF SAYS MAYOR WOODWARD

The Police Commission Asks Council for $500 to Install Bertillon System—46 Applicants for Force Elected.

When the question came before the board of police commissioners last night at the monthly meeting as to whether Chief James L. Beavers or the board should have the right to choose a successor to Sergeant K. S. Foster, who recently died, there came a long wrangle and after the board went into executive session, the final vote stood a tie, with six members voting in favor of the chief and six others voting to have the board control the selection of the new sergeant.

Mayor James G. Woodward, who voted for the board to select the officer, stated emphatically at the close of the meeting that he did not consider that affair in the nature of an attack upon Beavers, such as many of his friends have claimed would sooner or later come up in the board.

No Objection to Foster.

There was apparently no objection to the man named as a successor to Sergeant Foster. The name of Roundsman J. W. Whatley was introduced in a lengthy statement by Commissioner George E. Johnson, who declared that Whatley had stood the best examination of any man in his position and that he was also eligible for a captain's place.

As there was no objection to the particular man named, and the fight centered around the manner of his selection, it appeared that this was to be made a matter of principle by the commissioners.

Police Chief Beavers wants civil service strictly enforced.

"In picking a successor for Sergeant Foster, I think that we should use the civil service," he said. "In that, the man making the highest percentage in the examination is appointed, and, as long as the civil service is in effect, I am in favor of its being enforced."

$500 for Bertillon System.

Of particular interest was the recommendation made by the board to the mayor and council for the appropriation of $500 for the installation of the Bertillon system in the police department. Chief Beavers brought the matter up, urging that the board take immediate action in the matter, and Commissioners Johnson and Colcord were appointed to comprise a committee to bring it before the mayor.

Forty-six applicants for positions as patrolmen, who have successfully passed examination, were appointed. Only twelve of these, however, will go into active service at once. The rest will be placed on the list of eligibles, and will be appointed supernumeraries as soon as there are more vacancies. The twelve men who will be sworn in today are: E. D. Meek, M. C. Hall, J. C. Simmons, J. T. Malcolm, D. W. Ellis, Robert H. White, C. C. Carroll, A. L. Appling, A. E. Davis, L. G. Bowman, W. A. McKinney and E. M. Cason, Jr.

J. H. Thrower, signal officer, who was recently discharged, was reinstated.

Thomas H. Turner, patrolman, who was dismissed in 1910, asked to be reinstated, but was refused.

FOLSOM IS CONVICTED OF KILLING WALDRON

Quitman, Ga., May 13.—Bryant Folsom was found guilty late this afternoon of voluntary manslaughter in the jury which has been trying the case. Folsom shot and killed David Waldron during the Christmas holidays, accusing him of having sent an insulting post card to his sister.

Waldron apologized for the incident, and it was thought the affair had been settled amicably.

Poem in Handwriting of Mary Phagan May Give Solicitor Clue to Murderer

Several days ago a representative of The Constitution secured from J. W. Coleman, stepfather of Mary Phagan, the following poem, which Mr. Coleman said his daughter had written. In order to secure this poem and an affidavit concerning it, Solicitor General Dorsey has summoned the reporter before him today. He is of the opinion that it may aid him in his search for the murderer. It is the most complete specimen of Mary Phagan's handwriting the solicitor has been able to obtain. The poem follows:

MY PA.
By Mary Phagan.

My pa ain't no millyunaire, but, Gee! He's offul smart!
He ain't no carpenter, but he can fix a feller's cart;
He ain't no doctor, but you can bet he allus knows
Just what to do to fix a boy what's got a bloody nose!

My pa ain't president becoz, he says, he never run,
But he could do as well as any president has done.
A president may beat my pa at pilin' up the vote,
But he can't beat him, I will bet, a-whittlin' out a boat!

My pa ain't rich, but that's becoz he never tried to be;
He ain't no 'lectrician, but one day he fixed the telephone for me!
My pa ain't never wrote a book, but I know he could.
Becoz the stories that he tells to me are allus powerful good!

My pa knows everything, I guess, an' you bet I don't care
'Coz he ain't president or rich as any millyunaire!
Whenever things go wrong, my pa can make 'em right, you see;
An' if he ain't rich or president, my pa's good enough for me!

JOHNSON GUILTY ON ALL 7 COUNTS

Negro Prize Fighter Convicted of Violating Mann Act. Johnson in a Sweat While on the Stand.

Chicago, May 13.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight fighter, tonight was found guilty of violating the federal white slave law in transporting Belle Schreiber from Pittsburg to Chicago in 1910. He was convicted on all seven counts in the indictment. The jury returned its verdict after an hour's consideration.

The maximum penalty under the finding is five years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine, or both.

A motion of Assistant District Attorney Perkin that Johnson be ordered confined in the county jail was overruled by Judge Carpenter, and the negro was released on bond of $10,000. A motion for a new trial was filed at once and arguments on the motion were set for May 19.

Four Ballots Taken.

Four ballots were taken by the jury tonight, the first being four for acquittal and eight for conviction.

Two counts of the indictment were dismissed yesterday at the request of Judge Carpenter, who declared that no good purpose could be served by airing unnecessary details of the relations of Johnson and the white woman.

Lucille Cameron Johnson is his present white wife, did not appear in the courtroom at any time. Only a few persons were in court when the verdict was reached, as a result of an order of Judge Carpenter that "scandal fans" be barred from the hearings.

Taking of testimony was ended today after the prize fighter had taken the stand in his own behalf and denied the statement of the Schreiber woman that he had paid for her transportation. A night session was held so that the attorneys could complete their arguments.

Johnson admitted on the stand that he had sent the woman money in response to her request by telephone, but denied he had made any stipulation that she should use it to come to Chicago.

Johnson's Testimony.

Johnson testified he had spent "between $9,000 and $10,000" on Belle Schreiber, but denied positively he had sent her a telegram telling her to come to Chicago and wait for him here. Whether his efforts sent her such a telegram without his knowledge he could not say. He said she be taken to Atlanta tomorrow.

Major Breese, who also had been ordered to report for sentence today, was not in court, his attorneys declaring it would be a physical impossibility for him to be present. His bond was forfeited, and a capias issued for his arrest.

The case of these men has been in the courts for sixteen years, and the supreme court, to which it was finally carried last year, confirmed the judgment of the lower courts.

Dr. S. S. Gilson Will Cover Convention for Constitution

Dr. S. S. Gilson, a Presbyterian minister of Pittsburg, Pa., and a man who has attended Presbyterian conventions for the past forty-five years, has arrived in Atlanta and will represent The Constitution exclusively in the present great convention.

Dr. Gilson has been in active ministerial work for many years and has filled pastorates in Kentucky and other states, winning an enviable reputation for his influence in religious matters over the land.

In securing Dr. Gilson to report the various meetings of the Presbyterian assemblies The Constitution feels that it has one of the best men in America to handle this difficult work. He is one of the few convention press experts in the country today, and as this is the greatest gathering of Presbyterians in the history of the world, Dr. Gilson's articles, which will appear exclusively in The Constitution, will be read with interest all over the world wherever Presbyterians are gathered together.

Years After Committing Offense Dickerson Comes to Atlanta Pen

Asheville, N. C., May 13.—Seventeen years after commission of the offense, Joseph B. Dickerson, director of the defunct First National bank, of this city, found guilty sixteen years ago of conspiracy in connection with the bank's failure, is to serve a prison term. Both he and Major W. E. Breese, president of the bank, were convicted, and their punishment fixed at two years in the penitentiary. Today Dickerson was formally sentenced and placed in the custody of the marshal. He will

$3,600-A-YEAR POSITION FOR MRS. LONGSTREET

Col. Boone, Former Union Soldier, Makes Offer to Widow of Confederate General.

Washington, May 13.—Denied reappointment as postmaster at Gainesville, Ga., by the democratic administration, Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, widow of the famous confederate general, has been offered a position by a former union soldier. Mrs. Longstreet said today that Colonel Albert E. Boone, of Clarksburg, W. Va., had offered her a place in his office at $3,600 a year.

"If I find that I feel fitted to do the work in Colonel Boone's office," she added, "I shall accept his offer in the same spirit in which General Longstreet accepted a commission from President Grant when he found himself an outcast in the land whose battlefields he had followed with supreme devotion."

Carolina Odd Fellows.

Anderson, S. C., May 13.—Prefacing the twenty-third annual convention of the Odd Fellows of South Carolina, which opens here tomorrow for a two-day session, the grand encampment of the state met tonight. Business sessions will occupy the convention tomorrow. The convention will close at noon Thursday.

BOY REBUKES FATHER AND THEN SHOOTS HIM

During the Excitement Younger Boy Is Drowned—Young Woman Involved.

Selma, Ala., May 13.—Jack Bell, aged 17, is in jail charged with killing his father. It is claimed that Bell and his two sons, the younger aged 8 years, went to Boguechitto creek to fish and while there the elder boy upbraided his father for paying attention to a young woman of the neighborhood where they were fishing. Anger was aroused and the father, it is stated, attempted to get his gun, when the elder boy fired quickly, killing him. During the excitement the younger boy fell into the creek and was drowned.

AROUND HARRIS BATTLE RAGES IN THE SENATE

The Republicans Have Begun Their First Big Fight on the Nominations of President Wilson.

FINAL CONFIRMATION SEEMS TO BE ASSURED

But Republicans Have Begun Filibuster to Keep Harris Out of Census Directorship Until the First of July.

Washington, May 13.—Senate republicans began their first big fight on President Wilson's nominations tonight when the appointment of W. J. Harris, of Georgia, as director of the census, succeeding E. Dana Durand, was taken up in executive session. For nearly five hours the senate played at cross purposes on the Harris nomination without ever entering into a discussion of the merits of the case.

The republicans forced roll call after roll call on questions of procedure and in support of tactics which the democrats termed dilatory. Motions to put the nomination over until tomorrow, until Friday and until next week were put and defeated and finally, when the membership of both sides had dwindled away to almost nothing, adjournment was taken until tomorrow at noon, with the Harris nomination still just where it was when the doors were closed shortly before 4 o'clock.

To Fight Until July 1.

Republican leaders have served notice that they intend to keep up the fight against the confirmation of Harris until July 1, at least, when Mr. Durand has announced his intention to quit. Under the senate rules there is no question of their ability to filibuster to their hearts' content, and if they are willing to go into long executive sessions day after day they can prevent confirmation as long as their talking powers last.

During the debate tonight an unsuccessful attempt was made to invoke the famous "Reed rule," by which members present in the chamber but not voting were counted in an attempt to disclose a quorum. This innovation brought forth more speeches, and before the session ended most of the democrats and a large part of the republicans had spoken, although none touched upon the nomination itself.

Report Against Harris.

A minority report against Harris was filed by Senator Townsend, and Senators La Follette and Cummins also of the census committee, Senator Burton and other republicans were interested in the case. Senator Burton declared after the debate had proceeded for several hours that he was willing to review the history of census from the present day to the time of Babylon before he would see Harris confirmed. Mr. Burton was strongly of the opinion that Mr. Durand should have been allowed to serve out his term.

The republican fight centers largely on the contention that offices requiring technical knowledge or scientific attainments should not be given as political rewards, but that qualification and experience should be the only yard stick. While no charges have been made against Mr. Harris, the republicans say he was not to well qualified by experience, at least, to hold the office as was Mr. Durand. Mr. Harris was chairman of the democratic state executive committee of Georgia in the last campaign and is known as an original Wilson man. His appointment was one of the early ones to important offices sent in by President Wilson.

Republicans on the census committee served notice almost immediately after the appointment that they expected to fight his confirmation. Efforts were made by democrats who wished to smooth out the difficulties to have Mr. Durand retained in office until July 1, but at a meeting of the committee ten days ago the nomination was favorably reported by a majority vote. Senator Townsend, the only republican present, voting against it. Tonight the fifth gauge of battle for the minority side.

The fight today began immediately after the executive session was ordered at the request of Senator Bacon. Such persistent opposition to any one presidential nomination has not been manifested in the senate for many years. Heretofore all of former President Taft's appointments were held up during the closing days of the last session, but attacks were not directed toward any individual nomination and at no time did the senate spend so many hours behind closed doors in the discussion of such appointments.

Last Long Struggle.

The last long struggle over a nomination recalled by senators tonight was that over the appointment of Leonard Wood, now major general and chief of staff of the army, when he was jumped to the rank of brigadier general over the heads of scores of men who had served many years longer than he in the army. General Wood finally was confirmed after the senate chamber had overflowed with oratory against him and in his support.

C. O. D. BEER ORDERS CUT OUT BY BEAVERS ON MAYSON'S RULING

Chief Beavers yesterday issued orders to every near beer saloon in Atlanta prohibiting them from sending beer out of the establishment C. O. D. It takes effect immediately.

His action was the result of a ruling from the city attorney, who declares that under former conditions, many saloons had been peddling beer on the streets, in restaurants and in private homes.

The order prohibits the saloonist from sending drinks even to customers who have ordered unless the price has been paid. It also prevents minors from buying beer by ordering it sent

CLUE IS SOUGHT IN HANDWRITING OF MARY PHAGAN

Reporter of The Constitution Is Summoned by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey for Conference.

OFFICIALS INVESTIGATE THEORY OF MYSTERY

Much Interest Is Created by the Report That a New Arrest May Be Made in the Near Future.

The handwriting of Mary Phagan is likely to play a prominent part in the investigation of her murder. Rumors came Tuesday from the solicitor general's office that new clues had been discovered in the form of notes or letters, and that much energy was being concentrated in investigation along that line.

Handwriting experts have been summoned before Mr. Dorsey this morning. A reporter for The Constitution who has several specimens of the murdered girl's handwriting has also been ordered to appear at the solicitor's office this morning at 10 o'clock.

It is reported that mysterious notes have been found by a number of the solicitor's staff, and that Mr. Dorsey's object is to identify, by the specimens in the reporter's possession, the Phagan girl's script. It also has been advanced that the strange notes caused the new theory on which the solicitor is working.

Mr. Dorsey and his entire office staff is unusually reticent about the rumored clues. He will neither deny or affirm the report that notes or letters of any character pertaining to the mystery have been discovered.

"To talk at present," he said, "would be disastrous. We must have time to verify our theory."

Dorsey Interviews Mrs. Barrett.

Mrs. Mary Barrett, a woman who is said to have been in the pencil factory the Saturday afternoon that Mary Phagan disappeared, was summoned before Mr. Dorsey Tuesday afternoon. She came with her daughter, a pretty little girl, who was present during her mother's examination.

Mrs. Barrett was in a disturbed state upon emerging from the interview. As she stepped upon the threshold of the anti-room, she exclaimed, dramatically:

"If anyone has told or tells any lies on me in connection with this murder, they'll certainly suffer for it."

The daughter was heard to tell Mr. Dorsey:

"I'll talk with her tonight, and then maybe she'll do what you ask."

To avoid reporters, the woman and girl were rushed away in a cab by Detective Rosser, of police headquarters.

Relative to the new theory advanced by Solicitor Dorsey, and the rumored new suspect who may be arrested, Chief Lanford said to a Constitution reporter Tuesday afternoon that he was unaware of a new theory or probable arrest.

He and the solicitor general were closeted for two hours Tuesday morning in the former's offices at headquarters. They weighed the evidence now at hand and the prospects for gaining new clues, the chief declared. Also, he said it was likely that he and Mr. Dorsey would hold another consultation in regard to the assistance the detective department is to give the solicitor in presenting the case before the grand jury.

Detective Chief Lanford said to a reporter for The Constitution:

"Police headquarters has as yet been unable to unearth evidence which would turn us from the theory to which we have adhered throughout the Phagan case. If another suspect has entered the mystery the city detective department is unaware of his existence. I don't believe there is such a character."

Solicitor Dorsey:

"I would rather not talk on the subject. It has been rumored over the entire city that another arrest will be made. Such might be the case. It is entirely possible. At present, however, I'm unprepared to talk. That new and plausible theories have been advanced is true. We are looking for anyone who can acquaint us with facts of the crime."

Speculation was rife Tuesday over The Constitution's report to the effect that another arrest was likely. The source of information from which the report was derived was responsible and a good deal of dependance, for that reason, was placed in the rumor.

Mystery as deep, however, as that which shrouds the murder itself, covers the identity of the strange suspect and the nature of his or her connection with the crime. Whether or not it is a man or woman is also a topic of wide speculation. Absolutely nothing can be gained from the solicitor's office, from which the new theory is being worked out.

Mr. Dorsey was asked Monday morning of his views on the part Detective William J. Burns will play in the Phagan investigation. He said:

"I will welcome Mr. Burns. His reputation inspires hope. I would welcome anyone or anything which might tend to clear up the mystery."

Three New Affidavits Filed.

Three affidavits were filed with the solicitor Monday morning. The nature of one Mr. Dorsey would not disclose. The two others, however, were obtained from Miss Maude Wyatt, of 44 Pickett avenue, and Miss Willie M. Rose, of 259 Crew street.

Miss Wyatt is said to have attested to her knowledge of certain conditions in the pencil plant, while Miss Rose made a statement of having heard screams from the basement of the factory at 4:30 o'clock on the Saturday afternoon the murder is supposed to have been committed.

It is probable that the grand jury will hold an extra session this week to clear away the routine matters before them so as to have nothing to interfere with the exhaustive investigation it proposes to make into the girl's death. At just which time the case will be presented by the solicitor is not definitely known. Even Mr. Dorsey, himself, has stated that he is not determined in that respect.

Mr. Dorsey's Theory.

The new theory of the solicitor general, which Tuesday created such widespread speculation, deals with the manner and the place of Mary Phagan's death. It was reported last night that the police theory, and that generally accepted by the public, is that the victim was rendered unconscious by being struck upon the back of the head when her head hit the planing machine on the second floor, and that her unconscious form was lowered to the basement, where, upon regaining consciousness, her screams at 4:30 o'clock were heard by the woman pedestrian who passed the plant building. Afraid that her cries would attract attention, her assailant completed the deed by strangulation.

Mr. Dorsey will not comment upon the subject. He has said, though, that he does not believe the girl met death outside the building. It is rumored that he believes the crime was committed in the basement, and that she was conscious when carried there. He will not verify even this report. Also, it is said that the new clues supposed to have been unearthed Tuesday morning corroborate, to a large extent, the solicitor's new theory.

Officers Are Summoned.

Corroborating, in a certain degree, the rumor that his new theory pertains to how and in what portion of the building the crime was committed, was the solicitor's action Tuesday in summoning to his office a number of the police squad who answered the negro night watchman's telephone call on the morning the body was discovered. His idea in this move, it is said, is to acquaint himself with the exact position of the corpse and condition of the basement in which it was found.

Considerable interest is centered on the mysterious detective in his employ, whom Mr. Dorsey announces as one of America's best. At present, he is out of the city, in New York, it is rumored, investigating police records of that city and Brooklyn. He will not return, according to the solicitor, in several days.

"Certainly detective ability is not lacking in this mystery," said Chief Lanford last night. "First come the Pinkertons, the solicitor's staff, his America's greatest sleuth, then Detective Burns—and the united headquarters are not inferior when it comes to efficiency. In fact, the city detectives have unearthed the larger portion of evidence now at hand.

"But, a world of detectives, as good as any on earth though they be, has not solved the Phagan murder. It is one of the most mysterious mysteries of my knowledge."

PRESBYTERIANS BEGIN CONCLAVE

Sherman, Texas, moderator of the southern assembly.

Many Features in Conferences.

Many problems of general interest will be discussed in all the conferences. The joint conference on evangelism at the North avenue Presbyterian church is expected to bring forth a number of fine addresses, and interesting discussion which may lead to resolutions being sent to the assemblies. A large number of the visitors, as well as delegates, are in the city to attend the conferences, and great interest is manifested in the discussions.

One of the most important meetings scheduled for today and one that is officially ordered by the assembly of the United States Associated church is a conference of college presidents with the officers of the college board. Besides many other educational institutions, the northern church maintains more than sixty colleges, and the college board of New York is the agency which helps to provide for their current expenses and endowment, for which purpose a total of $1,281,000 was expended last year.

About forty of the sixty college presidents are in the city to participate in this conference, which begins at 9 a. m., all the sessions to be held at the Harris street church, which will be headquarters for the college board throughout the assembly. The program is prepared to occupy the whole day, the evening meeting being in the nature of a joint or tri-Presbyterian conference, the three denominations being represented. One of the delightful features of the day will be a fraternal luncheon at Durand's. The presidents of the northern church take luncheon together, and the college board has invited the southern Presbyterian college presidents to be its guests at the same time. This will bring together about one hundred of the leading educators of the country.

YOUNG ATLANTAN IS CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

Bigamy charges, brought by the mother of Miss Ella Kate Mann, aged 18, of East Point, with whom he eloped last December, caused the arrest early Tuesday morning of J. L. Wimbish, of 777 Ashby street to which he is alleged by Wimbish, who admits that he has a wife in Birmingham, but declares that he has never married Miss Mann. He refused to divulge the latter's name, whereabouts, but said that he would bring her back to Atlanta as soon as he is freed.

He declared that he loved her, and that as soon as he could get a divorce he would marry her.

Wimbish declared that he married Ola May Jones, of Atlanta, but that they separated in 1909 and have not lived together since. He said that he believed that she had been married since, although he did not think that she had gotten a divorce.

FIGHTING TO DELAY TARIFF REVISION

Penrose and Other G. O. P. Senators Want to Force Public Hearings—Simmons Leads Fight Against Them.

Washington, May 13.—Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, and Senator Penrose, leading the republican fight to refer the Underwood bill with instructions for public hearings, delivered oratorical broadsides against each other in the senate today in debate on the Penrose amendment which will be resumed tomorrow.

Senator Penrose likened the secret caucus on the tariff bill to the "method of the Spanish inquisition" and brought laughter from both sides when he described the caucus and declared no one was present to witness the "murder of American industry."

Senator Simmons declared that if the democratic purpose to eliminate hearings could be called representation, it was the first time the democratic party had copied the methods of the republicans and he argued at length why public hearings were not necessary, asserting that they were not even demanded.

Simmons and Free Lumber.

During the debate Senator Penrose referred to Senator Simmons' attitude on lumber schedule four years ago when the Payne-Aldrich bill was under consideration. Senator Simmons answered that the democratic bill provided for everything he advocated four years ago if lumber was to be placed on the free list. "That being so," he said, "I will vote with pleasure for free lumber."

Senator Bristow offered an amendment to the sugar schedule providing for graduated reductions for the three-year periods, at the end of which time refined sugar would be taxed at $1.27 1-2 per hundred pounds and "ninety-six Cuban sugar at $0.972."

"I am very earnestly in favor of revision of the tariff," said Senator Bristow. "But I am not in favor of free trade and no democrat is, and results as this bill is, that apparently is the purpose of its advocates."

He denounced the Underwood bill as "more indefensible from the standpoint of principle than the Payne-Aldrich law."

When the Kansas senator had concluded Senator La Follette proposed an amendment to the Penrose amendment directing public hearings.

Senator Bacon then moved that the senate go into executive session. This was objected to, but prevailed, 48 to 34, Senators La Follette and Works voting with the democrats. This forced further consideration of the tariff over until tomorrow.

Senator La Follette's amendment, which was accepted by Senator Penrose, provides that the manufacturers who might appear or file briefs before the finance committee be required to answer under oath sixteen questions relating to the commodity they manufacture, the raw materials used, the amount of production and consumption of the commodity in this country; the number of concerns engaged in the manufacture and their identity; the market price in this and competing countries; the cost of production in this and competing countries; percentage of labor cost here and abroad; transportation cost to principal markets here and abroad; what part of the existing tariff duty represents difference in cost of production here and abroad and what part of the tariff duty represents profit of the American manufacturer.

Simmons Answers Attack.

Senator Lippitt characterized the finance subcommittee private hearings of manufacturers as "star chamber sessions."

Replying to this, Senator Simmons said:

"The democratic party has copied the exact methods of the republican party four years ago." He asked the republicans why, if they were sincere in their demand for public hearings, they did not demand them immediately after the finance committee had voted three weeks ago against holding them.

Senator Penrose said he did give notice then that he would make such a demand as soon as the motion would be in order.

"At that time," said Senator Penrose, "the tariff bill was being considered in a secret caucus of which a most extraordinary method for treatment of such an important measure, with no one present in the guise of witness to voice the cry of American industry. I would not refer to it as a 'star chamber' proceeding, but rather a vigorous imitation of the methods of the Spanish inquisition."

Senator Simmons charged that what the republicans sought through public hearings was an opportunity to arrange for stump speeches for the interests and to give the gentlemen representing the interests which grew rich under republican protection an opportunity to declare that if the Payne-Aldrich rates are reduced one per cent their industries will be destroyed, and give them a chance to make an appeal from the judgment of the country expressed in the last election.

The Bristow Sugar Amendment.

The amendment offered by Senator Bristow, of Kansas, to the sugar schedule would fix the duties on ninety-six Cuban sugar at 1.256 for three years, $1.056 for the next three years, then to be reduced to .972. The amendment would eliminate the provisions relating to the Dutch standard. These duties Senator Bristow said he was convinced would be ample protection in view of the development of the beet sugar industry.

Some Minor Changes.

Senator Thomas admitted during the debate that his statement to the senate last Friday that laborers in the western beet fields received 22 cents per day was incorrect. He said that he found adult laborers in those fields were paid from $1.50 to $2 a day, but that women and children received much less.

Senator Smith, of Michigan, referring to a batch of telegrams which he said came from beet raisers in the west, declared that according to figures in them laborers received from $2.50 to $3 per day. He added that the fact that Senator Thomas, a member of the finance committee, admitted that he had made such a mistake was a good reason for holding hearings on the bill. "It was just such inaccuracies as this, the lack of reliable information, that prompted me to suggest that we ought to have hearings," said Mr. Smith.

Senator Simmons declared today that many manufacturers notified him they did not want open hearings. The senator said the finance subcommittees were making some changes, but that they were not material.

Reduction of the proposed duty of 12 per cent on structural steel to 9 per cent was said to have been considered.

THREE GRIFFINITES TRY TO COMMIT SUICIDE

W. A. Goodrich Succeeds While Alexander Foss and Dave Foster Fail in Attempts.

Griffin, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—With one suicide, two attempts at suicide and a mysterious death, this section has just turned a morbid page in its history. W. A. Goodrich killed himself with a pistol this morning. Alexander Foss shot himself this afternoon, but will recover. Dave Foster tried to shuffle off his mortal coil at Sullivan's mill early yesterday morning by taking arsenic, but prompt medical attention saved him. When assured by a friend today that he would never get well, Dave Perdue, a negro, who had been sick for almost two years, turned his face to the wall and died almost immediately.

W. A. Goodrich, one of the most prominent young business men of Griffin, and known all over the state in insurance circles, committed suicide by shooting himself in the mouth.

Mr. Goodrich was alone in his room at the time he committed the deed. His wife was downstairs, when she heard the report of the weapon. Rushing to his room, she found her husband lying across the bed partially dressed and with a gaping wound in the head. Physicians were summoned, but death had resulted almost instantaneously.

Mr. Goodrich had been suffering with nervous affection for some time and had become very despondent, which is the only cause that can be assigned for the deed.

He is survived by his wife, three small children, a brother and father. He was one of the most popular young men in the city, and his death has cast a shadow of sorrow over the entire community.

The funeral will be held at the residence, 324 North Hill street at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Standing before a mirror in his bedroom, Alexander Foss, a tailor, put a pistol to his forehead and pulled the trigger. Members of the family rushed in to find that Foss had received merely a scratch across the right temple, his aim having been poor. It is alleged that the act of Foss followed a misunderstanding he had with his wife while he was slightly the worse for liquor.

HAD TO TELL TRUTH OR LOSE HIS CASE, YOUTH TELLS JUDGE

"What will happen to you, my little man, if you don't tell the truth in this court," said Judge H. M. Reid, in the city court yesterday to John Martin, an 8-year-old youngster, who was the petitioner through his father in a $10,000 damage suit.

"I'll just lose the case, that's all," replied the lad, and the judge decided that he was competent as a witness.

The boy's damage suit was for the loss of an eye which was put out by the bursting of a small torpedo. He sued Dr. George Vincent for the damages.

The jury went out at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and returned at 7 o'clock in the night without coming to a decision.

According to the plaintiff, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Martin, of 68 Dill avenue, the family rented a house on West Fair street from Dr. Vincent two years ago. There was a pile of litter and trash in the backyard, which they requested should be removed. It is stated that this was not done and that in playing around the yard the boy, then only 7, found the torpedo and exploded it, causing the loss of his right eye.

San Yuen Is Dead.

San Yuen, a Chinaman, 76 years of age, died in Savannah yesterday. He leaves a wife and one son, of San Francisco. The body will be brought to Atlanta, his old home, and will be carried to Poole's chapel. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

PLANS OF WARSHIPS HAVE DISAPPEARED

Detectives Called to Find the "Leak" in the Navy Department.

Washington, May 13.—Special agents of the department of justice officers of a nationally known detective agency and the local police have been called in by the navy department to investigate a leak through which during the last four months several relatively unimportant plans of ships and also minor documents have disappeared. Navy officials are inclined to minimize the importance of the losses.

The first losses were discovered shortly after the first of the year. Some minor structural plans of the dreadnaught Pennsylvania now building and other ships were among them. Documents not especially secret disappeared.

Navy officials say them are not much concerned over the importance of what safety has been lost as they are to find the leak and prevent further losses. Each battleship has several sets of plans which are sometimes widely distributed among the bureaus and contractors. The general plan is never very much of a secret.

The navy department late today issued this statement:

"On the night of March 4 (inauguration day), when there were a large number of people in the state, war and navy building, assembled to witness the inaugural fireworks, there were taken, by persons as yet unknown, from the office of inspector of the bureau of steam engineering uncompleted plans for the electric wiring of the new battleship Pennsylvania. These plans are sometimes referred to as the general arrangement of the decks and hatches, but would be of not particular value to anyone wishing to obtain naval information not generally made public. A short time after similar plans were missed from the same draughting room. The matter is still under investigation.

The rooms of the steam engineering bureau commanded a fine view of the fireworks and a number of visitors were in them on the night of March 4. For the most part these were members of the families of officials and clerks and no one was admitted without a pass. The plans were ordinary blueprints, lying on the drafting table, but were large enough to make quite a conspicuous roll.

The fact that other plans for electrical wiring were missed after the fourth of March tended to relieve the visitors from suspicion and as this was the last occasion upon which the rooms were open to others than employees the investigation turned in their direction.

These plans were very simple and such as could be prepared to order by any competent electrician. They did not relate to the fire control or turret interior system, therefore had no particular naval value.

The officials, however, were alarmed at the occurrence because it disclosed the possibility of the theft of really important secret plans. Consequently extra precautions have been taken to guard against the entry into the drafting rooms of any one who does not have a pass and a system of checking and accounting will be rigidly enforced.

COMER PLANS TO RUN FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

Eufaula, Ala., May 13.—In a letter to Theodore Pruden, prominent east Alabama politician, former Governor B. B. Comer says:

"I will be in the race for governor, and if we all get together we can push the load over the hill."

A similar letter was written to a merchant in Birmingham. Comer's formal announcement is expected at an early date.

JOHNSON GUILTY ON ALL 7 COUNTS

telephoned and asked him to send $75. He complied, but had no intention she should come to Chicago. The Schreiber woman, he said, had asked him to fix up a flat for herself, her sister and mother to live in. She wanted to work again as a stenographer.

"I sent about $1,000 for her to fix up her flat," said Johnson, "and then gave her $500 to keep her going until she could get a job as a stenographer."

He denied he had ever given her any diamonds.

Johnson denied he had made improper advances to Schreiber, that here and also denied that he had "beat up" Etta Duryea, his first white wife.

The Negro Sweated.

Johnson spoke in a low voice and at times hesitatingly. Sweat stood out on his forehead and trickled down his face. After fifteen minutes on the stand his voice grew more distinct and he seemed more at ease.

The direct examination lasted a little less than thirty minutes.

"If you should find this defendant not guilty, knowing as you do the evidence in the case," said Assistant District Attorney Harry Parkin, "I do not see how any of you can go home and look squarely into the faces of those you respect and admire."

Attorney Rachrach, for the defense, moved for a new trial. The general record and behavior of the negro was not to be considered by the jury.

"If he sent her the money to come to Chicago for immoral purposes he is guilty," he said. "That is the only thing to be considered by the jury.

Suit for $63.50 was filed against Johnson by an automobile company today, alleging that Johnson had failed to pay for goods he had purchased from them.

Local committees have succeeded in completing arrangements, and present indications are that the meeting is going to be one of the largest and most important in the history of the organization. Grand Commander F. T. Petri is assisting in the final details.

The big event is to be formally opened with a great parade on Wednesday, just after the noon hour, and from that time until the closing session of the Knights will have a continuous round of business and pleasure.

INJUNCTION PETITION AGAINST CITY DENIED

Judge Newman, of the United States court, yesterday refused to grant a petition filed by the Noll Construction company by its attorney, C. P. Goree, of Atlanta, seeking to enjoin the city of Atlanta from diverting certain sums of money included in its recent $3,000,000 bond issue, because of a claim the Noll Construction company asserts against Atlanta.

The Noll Construction company was awarded a contract in the building of the Intrenchment creek sewerage disposeal plant and in its petition filed with the clerk of the federal court claims the city of Atlanta owes it $42,000. In making its bill of complaint the Noll Cogstruction company sets out that it encountered a quicksand in its line of construction, of which it had no knowledge when it made its bid, and that it was required by Atlanta's engineering department to do work not considered when bids were requested.

After hearing Attorney Goree, representing the construction company, and City Attorney Mayson, representing the city, Judge Newman declined to grant the injunction, declaring that the city of Atlanta was clearly solvent and is able to meet all obligations for which it is liable.

TWO BLACKS ARRESTED FOR BURNING BARN

Americus, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Detectives today arrested two negroes supposed of complicity in the burning of the barn and contents of Neil A. Ray, here recently. Four teams of mules and horses were killed, entailing a property loss of $1,000. Preliminary examination of the prisoners has not been accorded yet, and the nature of the evidence against them is withheld. Five hundred dollars reward is outstanding for the incendiaries, with proof to convict.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR WHITEHALL

Many Improvements Planned as Result of Decision to Regrade This Important Street.

The improvement of Whitehall street by the erection of a handsome new store building has already commenced, although the new grade was only adopted by the street committee of council less than a week ago.

Charles H. Black is preparing to erect a $50,000 building on the corner of Whitehall street and Trinity avenue. S. D. Cravens, of Lovejoy, Ga., will begin, in a few days, the erection of a fine store on Whitehall, just south of Trinity avenue. Charles E. Currier is getting plans for another fine store on Whitehall near Trinity avenue.

The city council will meet next Monday afternoon and a vote will be taken on the Whitehall street grade, as recommended by the street committee. That council will adopt the new grade seems a certainty.

The next thing to be done is to get the finance committee to appropriate in the June apportionment sheet $50,000, the city's amount to be raised this year for the work. Property owners have liberally subscribed $17,000, and the county board has agreed to do all the grading with convicts. Actual work will begin on or about October 15.

If the work is not done this year, it is stated, there is no telling when the improvement can be taken up in the future. It is an improvement in which citizens throughout the city are deeply interested, as the doing away with the hills and hollow will make of Whitehall the finest thoroughfare in the city, and one that forms a direct connecting link with Peachtree, the road to East Point, College Park and Hapeville. It will also connect up the driveway around the city from West End to Grant park, and then to Piedmont park.

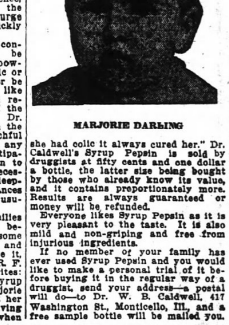
I. bunched hits, and these, with an error, netted five runs. In the seventh inning Dupree hit for a two-bagger, with the bases full, and scored three runs. Dozier pitched good ball, striking out twelve men. The two teams play again tomorrow. Batteries: Georgia Reserves: Candler and Torbert; L. G. I., Dozier and McCovey. Umpire, Combs.

Foods That Bind Little Children



MARJORIE DARLING

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Diet

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree with all children. Pepsin, therefore, should what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a harsh cathartic or purgative, these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that this is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessness, and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, for one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands indorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Darling, R. F. D. No. 4, Belleview, Pa., who writes: "I certainly think Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin saved my baby's life. Marjorie is a bottle baby and could not get her food to digest, but I found by giving her a small dose of Syrup Pepsin when she had colic it always cured her." Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-griping and free from injurious ingredients.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 517 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Buying clothes is something like buying coal; you might not think so; but consider it a minute. You pay for your coal for personal use at home, say, $7.50 to $8 a ton. What do you pay for? You expect something more than 2000 pounds of coal; if that's all you buy, you can get it for $2; same kind of a ton.

But you pay three or four times the price for the thing the scales dont show. And if anybody tried to persuade you to pay $10 or $12 a ton for coal, "mined-to-order," you'd laugh at him.

It's a good deal the same with clothes. We advise you to buy ours at $25 or more. You can buy clothes for very much less; you can pay a good deal more to have them "made-to-order." But you'll get real value for your money at $25, $30, $35, $40; you're foolish to pay big prices when these clothes are ready.

We make suits to sell at $18 and $20; ready clothes are best for you.

ATLANTA FOR 1914 DECLARES ADAIR

On Eve of Decision Potentate Says Shriners Will Choose the Georgia City in Preference to Memphis.

By Fred Houser.

Dallas, Texas, May 13.—(Special.)—Yaarab Temple, of Atlanta, Ga., and Alchymia Temple, of Memphis, Tenn., hot contestants for the 1914 conclave, were placed next to each other in the line of march of the opening parade of Imperial Shrine week. This parade was the secort of the imperial officers and representatives to the Scottish Rite cathedral, where the opening session of the imperial council was held today.

At every halting place the good natured rivalry of the two Shrines was demonstrated by chaff and well wishes handled by the members of opposing patrols.

"Alchymia's all right," shouted the Atlantans, while the Tennessee representatives cheered for Georgia, and declared they would give their opponents anything in the world except their fuzz back Siberian camel.

Atlanta was first in line in the third division, and the members of the patrol gained friends for the 1914 convention by their beautiful red and white attire with long white veils and their marvelous intricate drills and maneuvers. Yaarab trumpet corps has done much to win friends for Atlanta and keep the Georgia city to the fore.

Forrest Adair Confident.

Forrest Adair, potentate, and the representatives of Yaarab have been busy in several caucus meetings with other representatives in the interest of Atlanta's contest for the 1914 meeting. Mr. Adair is confidently predicting the selection of his home town for the 1914 conclave.

The committee on time and place was nominated today, as follows: George A. Shackford, Aleppo Temple, Boston; Arthur L. Smith, Al Amin Temple, Little Rock, Ark.; Albert Taylor, Melbra Temple, Springfield, Mass.; W. Wayne Weber, Rajah Temple, Reading, Pa., and James Glanville, Ramses Temple, Toronto, Canada.

Tonight, for the second time in one day, the brilliantly bedecked caravans of the Ancient Arabic order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, wound their way through the streets of Dallas, when representatives of more than a hundred temples and forty Arab patrols with their bands passed in grand review before Imperial Potentate W. J. Cunningham, of Baltimore.

To the patrols who paraded this morning as an escort to the imperial potentate and officers of the order tonight were added thousands of members not in uniform. Again spectators filled the streets and cheered the modern "followers of the prophet," giving again their oft-repeated welcome.

DR. DARGAN TO HEAD SOUTHERN BAPTISTS

And Dr. Burrows Will Be Re-Elected Secretary — Many Delegates in St. Louis.

St. Louis, May 13.—At the opening session of the Southern Baptist convention tomorrow, according to the plans of leading members, Dr. Edwin Charles Dargan, of Macon, Ga., will be re-elected president for the third annual term. Dr. Lansing Burrows, of Americus, Ga., the venerable secretary, who has served for the last thirty-five years, will be re-elected, as will Dr. O. F. Gregory, of Staunton, Va., who also has been assistant secretary for a number of years.

The next convention city in all probability will be Nashville. The convention has no set program this year on account of a complaint by the fewer progressive element that a certain coterie of older men have appeared on the program from year to year without giving the younger element an opportunity to be heard.

The amount of money raised for foreign, home and state missions last year by the convention was $1,470,000. One of the slogans of the present convention will be $5,000,000 a year for missionary work."

Only $15,000 was expended last year for missionary work among the negroes of the south. A movement is being pushed by Dr. V. I. Masters, of Atlanta, Ga., editorial secretary of the home mission board, to increase this expenditure largely. Educational work will be pushed among the southern negroes to the extent of educating Baptist negro preachers.

The Woman's Missionary union will begin its sessions tomorrow with the consideration of home missionary reports and with reports from state workers. Miss Pannie E. B. Hock, of Raleigh, N. C., president, will preside. The secretary is Miss Kathleen Mallory, of Baltimore. Of the $1,470,000 raised for missionary purposes by the convention last year one-third was contributed by the women through their missionary union.

More than one thousand registered.

The southern convention territory includes Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and the District of Columbia, with a total church membership of 2,446,296 divided among 23,982 churches.

The opening session will be at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

COMMISSIONER NEILL QUITS GOVERNMENT

Washington, May 13.—Dr. Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor since 1905, and recently made commissioner of labor statistics in the new department of labor, resigned today to take a position outside the government service. He was prominently identified with the arbitration of many noted wage disputes under the Erdman act.

Dr. Neill has taken a position with the American Smelting and Refining company, to organize and conduct its labor department. In a statement today, Dr. Neill said the offer came to him from President Daniel Guggenheim, through William Loeb, Jr., managing director of the Guggenheim corporations.

Dr. Neill recently was appointed by President Wilson commissioner of labor statistics. His former position of commissioner of labor was abolished when the new department of labor was created. Although his nomination first failed of confirmation because of a fight led against him by Senator Overman, because of exposures regarding the cotton mill industry in North Carolina, published in one of his reports, President Wilson gave him a recess appointment and later renominated him, and upon the latter nomi*nation he was confirmed. His princi*pal work under the Erdman act was done in co-operation with Martin J. Knapp, presiding judge of the commerce court.

GIRL PASSES KNIFE TO CONVICTED LOVER

Chicago, May 13.—When Harry Evans had been convicted of burglary in the municipal court today, Garnett Fairfield, a cabaret singer, his sweetheart, passed him her handkerchief. Evans extracted an open knife from the handkerchief and started to carve his way to freedom. Detective Boschulte was severely cut in the neck and Deputy Bohaber was stabbed in the breast before Evans was overpowered. The girl was arrested.

Only the presence in the courtroom of an unusually large number of bailiffs and detectives prevented a double murder and the release of Evans and Albert Jensen, who had been tried with Evans for burglary, according to Municipal Judge Cooper.

A number of friends of the two men were in the courtroom, and it is believed that they had planned to go to the prisoners' aid, but were frightened by the number of men who met the attack of Evans and Jensen.

Miss Fairfield had introduced herself as Evans' sister and managed to give him the knife in her handkerchief when she approached him by permission of the court, ostensibly to kiss the prisoner goodby.

Evans, after being taken to jail, declared he had tried to kill Detective Boschulte because, he said, the police man had beaten him in the police station while seeking to extract a confession of guilt.

HE TOOK FATAL DOSE AND CALLED DOCTOR

Birmingham, Ala., May 13.—After taking a big dose of carbolic acid, Cornelius Clark, a young man who registered at the Florence hotel ten days ago, telephoned that a physician be called to attend him this morning. Dr. B. A. Fox, who answered the call, did everything possible for the man, but in vain. Pending the return of the coroner from a suburban town, the body was left in the room. Three letters were found, one addressed to the deceased man's mother at Tupelo, Miss.; one to his wife in Chicago, and one "To whom it may concern, except that it must be kept from the newspaper men."

New York, May 13.—The United States Steel corporation, as an industrial benefactor, was the subject of today's testimony of James A. Farrell, it spresident in the government suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law. It was Mr. Farrell's second day on the stand for the defense.

He testified that the corporation manufactured cotton ties for the cotton growers of the south because its competitors found the business unattractive and had practically abandoned it. The corporation, he said, always gave preference to government work and in a recent instance had neglected other business to rush an order of steel pilings to New Orleans in order to save the levees from the flood. It used its enormous stocks of pig tin to prevent speculators from cornering the commodity and sold it to its competitors at cost when attempts to corner it caused a scarcity.

Since its organization, he testified, the corporation had raised the wages of its employees 38 1-2 per cent adding $40,000,000 a year to its pay rolls. The average wage of employees in 1910 was $716.88, and last year its was $856.70.

Clean Bill of Health.

Mr. Farrell gave a clean bill of health to the American Steel and Wire company, one of the subsidiaries of the corporation which the government alleges is a monoply in itself. He quoted many figures to show that of the hundreds of different kinds of wire products which the company manufactured, its percentage of production was less than half of the country's total output and in one instance, he named a so-called independent concern as the manufacturer of as much as 75 per cent.

Answering the charge that owing to "the community of interest" between railroads and the steel corporation, the corporation was favored over other manufacturers in buying steel. Mr. Farrell said it was the custom of the railroads to get their supplies from the steel mills nearest their shops regardless of who owned the mill.

The steel corporation, he repeated, had made every effort to push its foreign trade; and while the corporation had been able to obtain higher prices for its export products, prices to domestic business of the corporation was now being threatened by new steel plants in Australia which could mine and assemble raw material and manufacture steel at a lower cost than the corporation.

27,000 RAIL SHOPMEN GRANTED AN INCREASE

Kansas City, May 13.—Twenty-seven thousand railroad shopmen will receive increase in wages as a result of agreements ratified by representatives of the Federation of Shop Crafts and the Southern railway and allied railroad companies and the Wabash system at the headquarters of the federation in Kansas City, Kan., tonight.

The allied companies of the Southern railway are the Mobile and Ohio, Queen and Crescent, New Orleans and Northeastern, Virginia and Southwestern and Georgia and Florida Southern roads.

Boilermakers, blacksmiths and painters of the Southern railway and allied lines hereafter will receive 41 cents an hour, instead of 39 and 40. Their helpers were granted a raise of 1¼ cents an hour. The carmen received an increase of 2 cents an hour. All the shopmen are to work nine hours a day. The contract may be terminated by either party giving thirty days' notice, and is binding on all labor organizations in the federation.

An increases of 2 cents an hour was granted to the 6,000 shopmen employed by the Wabash railroad.

It was announced that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad has granted a raise of 2 cents an hour to its 1,500 boilermakers, but has not yet signed a contract with the federation.

The federation is trying to obtain uniform rules in all the railway shops of the United States.

Fullaway Is Named.

Washington, May 13.—Charles H. Fullaway, of Philadelphia, was today appointed assistant director of postal savings. For two years he has been superintendent of the division of finance of the postoffice department, which desires to restrain and obstruct popular government.

"It is important to know whether the legislative representative is holding to the democratic idea or to the aristocratic idea. It is a settled principle of this country that a platform is binding upon every man that runs on that platform. Some men violate platforms because they say they cannot violate their conscience. No man should violate his conscience, but that does not mean that he should violate his party platform. It means that his conscience should begin to work before he is elected and not afterward. A man who violates a party platform and betrays his party and the people is a criminal worse than the man who embezzles money.

"Now let me tell you something else: the day of the boss is gone. The people will write their own platforms hereafter and send their own representatives to the legislative halls. And I venture to say we have seen the last of the great national conventions. I predict that before another presidential election rolls around the presidential candidates will be elected not by the bosses of party leaders, but by the people."

NATIONAL CONVENTIONS HAVE SEEN THEIR DAY

Harrisburg, Pa., May 13.—Secretary of State William J. Bryan addressed the Pennsylvania legislature this evening on the distinction between democracy and aristocracy. He predicted that before another general election the presidential primary will be so general that there will be no need to hold national conventions and the presidential nominees will be named not by party leaders or bosses, but by the people.

Secretary Bryan came here to speak at the Jefferson anniversary dinner of the Central Democratic club of Harrisburg and was invited to address the members of the legislature. He told the lawmakers he desired to talk of fundamental desires that are appropriate at this time.

The Aristocratic Party.

"Jefferson a century ago spoke of two parties," he said, "one was the democratic party and the other the aristocratic party. The democratic party is that party which tries to bring the government near the people and the aristocratic party is that

CALIFORNIA AND THE JAPS.

In face of the overwhelming disapproval of the remainder of the nation California feels the need of justifying her course in the present Japanese controversy. That fact is indicated by a letter, published elsewhere on this page, from Charles K. McClatchy, editor of The Sacramento (Cal.) Bee. In conformity with its uniform belief that both sides are entitled to a hearing, The Constitution publishes the substance of the communication.

There is no disposition in this part of the country to forget that California is a part of the nation and the Californians our own people. Indeed, the south is peculiarly fitted to sympathize with those struggling with any kind of race problem since we have, since the civil war, contended with a race problem of more intricacies than will ever bother California and on a scale beside which the Jap question is negligible. It may not be amiss in passing, however, to remind Brother McClatchy that, whereas, he makes his first premise, the claim that "easterners cannot understand unless they live in California," neither the west nor the east made any effort, after Appomattox, to "understand" the race problem in the south. They, California along with them, simply enfranchised and set to help rule the south a million-odd negro ex-slaves—something that never can happen with regard to the Japs.

That to one side. We cannot see that Mr. McClatchy has made out a case sufficient to change our conviction that California is unduly excited and is falling far short in her duty to her sister states. He reiterates that the Japs are a "menace." He does not specify. It should be remembered the Japs are scarcely 2 per cent of California's population and steadily decreasing. He would justify California's action by pointing to the federal Burnett bill, which, he assumes, excludes Japs entirely. We are not certain the Burnett bill did or would do that. It remains yet for the supreme court to say whether Japs can be naturalized, and, therefore, whether they can become eligible to citizenship.

But these considerations beg the question. The main thing is that California, whatever the local conditions, is tampering with an issue with which the nation only is authorized to deal. If each one of the forty-eight states were at liberty to legislate upon subjects which might imbroil the other forty-seven what would become of this country? California's attitude is plainly in violation of that comity which exists between states and nation, and which must be respected if the two are still to do business together, and if the state expects protection from the government. A pretty situation it would be if each state had the right to pick a quarrel with a foreign nation upon any fancied grievance and then demand that the nation, which had never been consulted, save it from the consequences of its own folly! The states cannot deal with foreign nations as such! And if the Japs became an issue in Washington or Oregon, which Mr. McClatchy cites as legislating like California, that fact would be demonstrated as quickly as in California.

We sympathize with our fellow-Americans in California. We see the need of their troubles being satisfactorily settled. But we do insist that the nation and not the state must be the arbiter if it is the nation that is to pay the freight for any possible involvement. We protest that our neighbors haven't the right to get us into a mess unless we're first consulted about it. That's the first rule of common sense, much less of reciprocal comity. Meanwhile it's just as well for our friends in California to stop seeing red, and get in an ice-pack, so to speak. They are not being asked to do anything unreasonable by President Wilson.

LIONS AND LAMBS.

The report from Chicago outlining the plan for the resuscitation of the republican party reminds one of the old saw about the lion and lamb lying down together. "Yes," commented the skeptical old darkey, "but when de lion got up I reckon de lam' was inside er him." That would seem to be a conservative prophecy regarding the ability of the bull moose and old guard contingents of the republican party to get together.

The stand-patters and the republican "progressives," so-called, are about as compatible as oil and water! Can Smoot and Hadley lie in the same political bed without both sending the counterpane sky-high? Can Root and Cummins ride the same horse and reach the end of the journey together? To a man up a tree, the answer appears tolerably plain.

An encouraging feature is that both wings of the party seem to feel the need of purging themselves of the southern "canned delegate" phase of the national conventions. Both have made tentative resolutions to admit delegates on a basis of actual votes cast in presidential elections, and not on the basis of population. The latter test has resulted in most republican conventions since the civil war being dominated by black-and-tan politicians from the south. The anomaly was presented of presidents of the country frequently being named by men from a section that religiously voted against their nominees—and even then men who were grotesquely unrepresentative of the south. The great north, east and west, which solidly voted the republican ticket, were smothered in expressing their choice of a nominee by the craftily-manipulated delegations from the south.

For the sake of decency and Americanism in politics this paradox should be eliminated. Whether the stand-patters and "progressives" amalgamate, as now seems improbable, or whether the one takes the other into camp, both must expel this contradictory feature if they expect to survive.

A STRAIGHT TIP.

"Atlanta is the place for the manufacturers of the world to locate." That straight tip comes from Henry T. Stetson, member of the board of aldermen of Orange, N. J. Mr. Stetson visited Atlanta recently with fellow-citizens of Orange to inspect Atlanta's new sewage disposal system.

This city is by every facility fitted to become the manufacturing center of the south, and also for export trade with the opening of the Panama canal. Its strategic location is ideal, and location is one of the primary essentials in developing a manufacturing community. We are within quick and easy touch of all parts of the south. We are within easy striking distance of all the gulf and South Atlantic coasts. Our command of the raw material used in a tremendous range of industries is large and immediate. Power, whether from water or coal, is available at a minimum.

Considerations of this description have led the chamber of commerce to launch a bureau of industry. It is to be the specific province of this bureau to bring large and small factories to Atlanta. Their propaganda will have behind it the solid influence of the chamber and should also carry the personal influence of every Atlantan. The towns that profit most decidedly by the broad new fields of world trade opened by the canal will not be primarily the ports; in freight and dock facilities they would take only a small part of the toll from canal traffic. The communities that get rich will be those that supply goods that will be needed for trans-isthmian business. In that respect, Atlanta ought to be foremost in the south and among the first in the nation. Capital invested in that direction comprises a transaction in futures stripped absolutely of the elements of uncertainty.

THE CRIMINAL'S FAMILY.

When society exacts the law's penalty from the convicted criminal, how often is thought given to the needy and stigmatized family of that criminal? The question is made pertinent by the action of the state of Iowa in suspending sentence against the aviator, Lindsay, convicted of a serious crime, until he can make some provision for those dependent upon him. This action is significant in connection with the agitation by penologists generally looking to a degree of compensation for the families of criminals.

It is argued that our present system is unjust in that it punishes not only the offender, but many other innocent people. If the law could simply take its toll of the violator and stop there, all would be well. But the wife, and frequently the mother and the father, the children or other relatives of the outlaw are often left destitute, to face the virtual ostracism of society while one person answers for a crime.

The suggestion has been advanced that to meet this condition the state, or the nation, pay the convict during his term certain wages for his trade or other occupation, subtract enough to maintain him and turn the remainder over to his family. Thus society would defray the cost of administering justice and the innocent victims of his wrongdoing would not suffer actual want. Variations of this system contemplate the extension of the parole system, the offender remaining at large, save in cases of an exceedingly grave nature, turning over to the state all save enough of his earnings to support his family, but at no time being free of the supervision of a state official.

In some manner this problem should be worked out. Civilization must punish the criminal and his crime in self-protection. But it has no warrant to visit the penalty almost equally upon his family. The ignominy inevitable from having produced an outlaw is punishment enough. Hunger, cold and poverty should not be added to the burden. Agreements between states and between the state and the nation looking to some way of adjusting this question must eventually right a very real wrong in our existing system of penology.

The Last Sermon of a Revolutionary Veteran.

By E. J. Edwards.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

In the year 1864 an antiquary whose home was at Hartford, Conn., found entertainment in searching among some of the archives at Washington, especially in the pension bureau. He discovered that there were living in that year four men who were upon the pension roll and were credited with services in the Revolutionary war. Investigation showed that two or three of these men lived in the vicinity of Utica, N. Y. One of them was the Rev. Daniel Waldo, who served for a time as chaplain under General Washington. He lived to 102 years of age and a photograph of him was taken in 1864.

E. J. Edwards.

He was barely of age in the last year of the revolutionary war, and had only been a few months ordained as a clergyman when appointed as chaplain.

Some years ago I called the attention of the late Dr. E. Prentiss Bailey, of Utica, to the fact, as I had learned it, that two of the four surviving veterans of the Revolutionary war lived in the vicinity of Utica in 1864 and were then more than a hundred years of age.

"Yes," said Dr. Bailey, "I believe that statement to be true."

Dr. Bailey was at the time of his death, a few months ago, the dean of newspaper editors and publishers of New York state. He was in continuous service of this kind for sixty years, all of his work having been associated with a single newspaper, of which for many years he was proprietor. In his capacity as editor he heard many things that related to the last years of the survivors of the revolution who lived near Utica.

"It was not my good fortune," said Dr. Bailey, "ever to have met the Rev. Daniel Waldo, or the other survivors of the Revolutionary war, who lived near Utica; but I have a very vivid recollection of a clergyman who had been a soldier in the Continental army and who afterward was ordained as a minister in the Baptist denomination.

"His name was Daniel Harvey. He lived a few miles out of Utica. I think I am safe in saying that although a number of revolutionary soldiers who were young men at the time of the war afterward became clergymen, yet the Rev. Daniel Harvey was the last one to preach or to remain in active service.

"I think it was about the year 1847, when I was 16 years of age, that the announcement was made that the Rev. Daniel Harvey, a survivor of the Revolutionary war, would conduct the evening services at the Baptist church at Utica. It was also announced that Mr. Harvey would preach.

"Of course, there was great curiosity to see and hear a clergyman who in his youth had carried a flintlock musket and who had participated in the siege of Yorktown.

"He must have been about 83 or 84 years of age at the time to which I allude. He was a man of medium height, rather thickset, with a large beard covered with gray hair and very bright eyes. A casual glance at him as he stood in the pulpit would have justified the impression that he was about 60 years of age.

"He conducted the services with perfect ease, and I remember well that he joined in singing the hymns. He took as his text the passage in the scriptures which narrates the entry of Christ into Jerusalem riding upon an ass, accompanied by a throng that cried 'Hosanna!'

"I remember perfectly well the manner in which he turned from the Bible to the congregation and said, 'All the people cried "Hosanna!" ' Then he stood silent for a few very impressive moments. Every eye in the congregation was fixed upon him. We knew that something dramatic was to follow. At last he said, 'The people cried "Hosanna!" but I don't suppose they hollered; and with that thought in mind we pictured to ourselves the earnest dignity with which his throng accompanied the Saviour in that humble entrance of His into Jerusalem. We could almost hear the people say with expressions of awe, profound sympathy, and yet in quiet tones, 'Hosanna!'

"I think that was the last sermon that the Rev. Daniel Harvey delivered. All the circumstances associated with it caused it to be long remembered by the people who were fortunate enough to see him and to hear his rude, unlettered and yet powerful eloquence."

CANDLES.

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

A candle is a cylinder of tallow or fat with a wick in it. It is used principally to show off a rare old or an expensive new candle-stick.

When a candle is lighted it makes a tiny, tapering hole in the darkness. This is principally valuable because it prevents the passerby from running into the candle. If the candle is in good health and is burning well, it can be detected readily in a large room without the aid of a search-light.

Candles are decorative and romantic and are also useful in some forms of religious worship, but only a hopeless backnumber would attempt to illuminate anything with them. When a modern citizen is left in his cozy home with only a dozen candles between him and the velvet night, he feels his way to the telephone and tells the electric light company that unless it repairs its circuit in ten minutes he will file suit for damages.

This is interesting, because at one time in history folks used candles as a luxury. The rich man stuck candles around his home and puffed out his chest about it, while the poor man lighted a pine knot and longed for the time when he, too, could indulge in candles, forks, soap and other marvels of modern luxury.

Of course, in those days when the candle was the most effective method of chasing the dark out of doors man was able to accomplish but little after dark. Looking on the feeble flame of the candle shining in the gloom like a misplaced strawberry mark, he can readily realize why Shakespeare, Robert Burns, Benjamin Franklin and Edgar Poe turned out such poor stuff.

In those early days only the most determined men could do anything by candle light, and, therefore, there were only a few authors and scholars. Possibly if candles were reintroduced by law, the number today would be cut down until we would have to depend on present day Shakespeares and Franklins.

The World's Mysteries

THE BLUE LAWS OF CONNECTICUT.

There has been an unusual amount of controversy regarding which were and which were not the blue laws of Connecticut. One of the most rigid of the New England colonies was that of Connecticut, and the early government of New Haven formed certain laws anent breaches of manners and morals which, to our present thinking, would appear to be unusually severe, if not in some respects nonsensical, but many laws that are credited to that colony were never placed on its statute books, but instead seem to have been conceived in the mind of one Rev. Samuel Peters.

The New Haven code of laws were passed in 1655—the properly termed blue laws, but what are claimed to have been the Peters forgeries, appeared about the same time and were explained by their author as follows: "The lawgivers soon discovered that the precepts in the Old and New Testaments were insufficient to support them in their arbitrary and bloody undertakings. They, therefore, gave themselves up to their own inventions in making others, wherein, in some instances, they betrayed such an extreme degree of wanton cruelty and oppression that even the rigid fanatics of Boston and the mad zealots of Hartford were put to blush, christening them the blue laws."

Dr. Peters further notes in his history: "These laws consist of a vast multitude and were very properly termed blue laws, i. e., bloody laws; for they were all sanctified with excommunication, confiscation, fines, banishment, whippings, etc. And did not similar laws still (1782) prevail over New England as the common law of the country I would have left them in silence."

Where did Dr. Peters get his authority for the statement that such laws existed? There is no evidence obtainable in any records. But a great many people believe Peters' blue laws were reprinted a number of times from 1781 to 1861.

In spite of the fact that these blue laws of Peters have been shown repeatedly that they are little more than the invention of a clerical historian, they are frequently referred to as authentic by well-known writers and were printed in reliable magazines.

When Peters' History appeared containing his Blue Laws he was asked for his authority, and his reply was "The laws made by this independent dominion, and dominated blue laws by the neighboring colonies, were never suffered to be printed."

A few of the most odd of these laws as conceived by Peters—at least it is so believed—are as follows:

1. No one shall cross a river but with an authorized ferryman.

2. No one shall run on the Sabbath day, or walk in the garden or elsewhere, except reverently to and from meeting.

3. No woman shall kiss her child on the Sabbath or fasting day.

4. Whoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver, or bone lace, above two shillings by the yard, shall be presented before the grand jurors and the selectmen shall tax the offender at $1,500 estate.

5. No one shall read Common-Prayer, keep Christmas or Saints' days, make mince pies, dance, play cards, or play on any instrument of music, except the drum, trumpet and Jews' harp.

6. Married persons must live together or be imprisoned.

7. Every male shall have his hair cut round according to a cap.

There were 45 in all of these laws, and "Of such sort," remarks Peters, "were the laws made by the people of New Haven."

In a portion of his "History" is to be found the following story: "In 1750 an Episcopal clergyman, born and educated in England, who had been in holy orders above twenty years, once broke their Sabbatical law, by combing a discomposed lock of hair on the top of his wig, and at another time by making a humming noise, which they called a whistling; and at still another time, by walking too fast from church, by running into church when it rained, by walking in his garden and picking a bunch of grapes, for which several crimes he was complained of by the grand jury, had warrants issued against him, was seized, brought to trial, and paid a considerable sum of money."

"The laws of Connecticut were no doubt most severe, but Peters no doubt manufactured others either viciously or out of ridicule. The investigator can find nothing in the statutes of that state which could be misconstrued into meaning anything like what is represented by Peters in his "History."

Too Many Agents

"You're the third agent that's been here pestering me this morning," cried Mrs. Curfew, "and I'll ask you to disperse at once, for I wouldn't buy anything, no matter what you're selling."

"I venture to say, ma'am," answered the agent, "that you'll be sorry if you let me go without hearing what I have to say about Prof. Higginbottom's prepared dyes, which I am introducing in this territory. As a wife and mother you must know what a nuisance the ordinary dyes are. If you want to dye a black dress white, it takes you a week to get the materials ready, and the directions are so complicated that your reason totters on its throne before the job is done, and in the end you find that your dress is a brindle color. The ordinary dyes are like the government free seeds. You never know what you're going to get when you use them. Now, Prof. Higginbottom's dyes are so simple that any child can use them—"

"In that case I wouldn't have them if you gave them to me free, and threw in a steel engraving of the vice-president," interrupted Mrs. Curfew. "When you first began talking I thought I might buy a package of your dyes, as I have a pink shirtwaist I'd like to color a delicate orange, but when you say that any child can use your dyes, the stuff is off, as my husband says. I bought some dyes of an agent last fall, and he had a rigmarole similar to yours. It happened that my little granddaughter was spending a few days with me at the time. She's a dear little girl, but you have to watch her all the time or she'll do more damage than a funnel shaped cloud, and Mr. Curfew says that any house she infests should carry tornado insurance.

"I had occasion to go over to Mrs. Turpentine's, to see why she hadn't returned the patent cold-handled double-pointed smoothing iron she had borrowed of me three weeks previously. Mrs. Turpentine would be a very good neighbor if she'd only return borrowed things within a reasonable time, but that she won't do, and at this writing she has my coffee mill, which she borrowed two weeks ago, saying she'd bring it back in ten minutes, said ten minutes evidently being made of India rubber.

"When I left the house the little girl was sleeping, and I thought she wouldn't wake until I got back, but lo and behold, no sooner had I left the door than that infant prodigy was spreading desolation around her. She got a package of those dyes and made a dishpan full of coloring fluid and then she dyed our white cat a bright green. The cat was astonished and indignant and fled from the house by way of an open window. Mr. Curfew was sitting on the porch by that window, and the cat jumped on his shoulder and then to his knees, and then to the ground. Mr. Curfew had been taking some stomach bitters for a time, he being troubled with indigestion, and the first thing he did after seeing that green cat was to take his bitters bottle from the cupboard and throw it into the alley, and then he called up the secretary of the Sons of Temperance and asked him to hurry to our house and bring a blank pledge for him to sign.

"Meanwhile the little girl was busy. Our next door neighbor, Mr. Pumpernickel, had a coop full of peroxide blonde hens that he called Buff Cochins. The little girl didn't like their complexion, so she took them, one at a time, to our kitchen, and dyed them green, and then put them back in their coop. Old when Mr. Pumpernickel came home and looked at those hens he burst into tears, my husband went over to tell him about the green cat that was sent as a judgment for dipping too much bitters and they got to comparing notes, and then they began quarreling. Mr. Pumpernickel wanting damages for his ruined hens, so Mr. Curfew knocked him down with a large green rooster, and they fought around the back yard until bedtime. So after that experience I don't want any dyes that children can use."

CALIFORNIA'S SIDE IN CURRENT CONTROVERSY

Declaring that "easterners cannot understand unless they live in California," Charles K. McClatchy, editor of The Sacramento (Cal.) *Bee, writes The Constitution defend*ing California's course in the present controversy over alien ownership of lands.

Mr. McClatchy claims that Japan has no treaty with Atrocia, since California is only treating Japs regarding land ownership as Americans are treated in Japan, and according to laws already in force in Washington and Oregon. He reproduces a letter from the representative of Australia in this country, showing that that country excludes all save a limited class of Japs, and admits them for twelve months only.

A Great Menace.

Continuing, Mr. McClatchy says:

"You do not hear the Japanese government protesting to Great Britain and suggesting war because of the act of these Australians. They do not even protest against the statutes of Washington and Arizona; but they take the whole thing out on the devoted head of Californians—who are what might be called 'the goat' in this matter.

"These Orientals are a great menace—a menace in every way—a menace to the working classes—a menace to morality—a menace to the homes—a menace to our civilization. All you would need to do to prove this to yourself would be to visit Florin, in Sacramento county, from which place the whites have virtually been driven, and which is now practically a Japanese town.

"Another thought: The Burnett immigration bill, as introduced in this present session of congress by Representative Roddenbery, bars from admission to this country all aliens ineligible to citizenship.

"In this respect it is virtually identical with that provision of the proposed anti-alien law of California to which the Wilson administration objects as of a nature to give offense to Japan.

"The Burnett immigration bill passed the last congress by a large majority, but was vetoed by Taft because it contained the educational or reading test, no objection being made to the naturalization test.

"The bill was repassed in the senate, and only failed passage in the house by the narrow margin of eight votes. During all that time there was no objection to the naturalization test.

"The bill is quite certain of passage.

"Senator Lodge, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, told The Bee's Washington correspondent that the clause in question before it was put in the bill was submitted to Baron Chinda, the Japanese ambassador here, and was approved by him.

"But yet, Chinda is now protesting against California's adoption of a phrase or requirement which he has approved in the congressional bill.

Excluded Classes.

"The Roddenbery bill—H. R. 1,958—enumerates classes of aliens who shall be excluded from the United States—such as idiots, insane persons, paupers, etc., and also 'persons who cannot become eligible, under existing law, to become citizens of the United States by naturalization,' unless otherwise provided for by existing agreements as to passports, or by treaties, conventions or agreements that may hereafter be entered into.'

"Compared with this positive closing of the doors against all citizens of Japan, with relatively few exceptions, the proposed land legislation in California sinks into insignificance, from an international point of view.

"The situation, in fact, has an element of the ridiculous.

"It is as if Japan should say to California, through her ambassador at Washington:

"'We don't object to having the door of immigration slammed in our faces by congress because we can't be naturalized. But we can't stand California's refusal for the same reason, to let us buy any of her land.'

"BLIND TIGER" DEFINED BY THE SUPREME COURT

It's Any Place Where Liquor Is Illegally Sold, Whether Openly or Secretly.

A blind tiger doesn't mean a hidden, secretive place where liquor is sold, but any place where liquor is sold illegally, whether it be secret or open, according to a decision handed down by the state supreme court yesterday in the case of Thomson et al. v. Simmons & Co., from Savannah.

Acting under the law which gives any person the right to ask for an injunction against another who is running a blind tiger, the same to be declared a nuisance, W. E. Thompson and others sought to enjoin H. H. Simmons & Co., from running an alleged blind tiger in Savannah. In the June term, 1912, of the Chatham county superior court, Judge Walter G. Charlton heard the case and among other things charged the jury that a "blind tiger is a place where spirituous or malt liquors are sold on the sly or secretively."

The supreme court held that a blind tiger did not have to be a hidden or secret place for the selling of liquor and that any place where liquor was sold illegally was a blind tiger within the meaning of the law.

The decision of the lower court was reversed, Simmons having won on Judge Charlton's charge to the jury, and Thompson et al. appealed. The case will now go back to be tried over again with a blind tiger more clearly defined by the higher court.

Registration Bureau Workers Kept Busy All Day on Tuesday

The spirit of Atlanta was well demonstrated yesterday when a number of Atlanta's prominent business and professional men gave up their duties and entered as clerks in the registration bureau of the Presbyterian assemblies committee under Rev. Jere Moore on the fifth floor of the Empire building. J. K. Orr and other prominent laymen of the city worked from early morning until late at night meeting the various delegates and committeemen and assigning them to their respective quarters.

While scores came in on the various trains, these are but the advance guard of the great contingent following. By Thursday, when the three assemblies will officially open, fully 1,500 delegates and committeemen will be in the city and about 2,000 visitors. Within the next few days every train entering Atlanta will be filled with the Presbyterians, many of whom have come from across the seas to be present at the greatest meeting of Presbyterians in the history of the world.

Names of Assemblies.

During the convention, for the purpose of convenience, the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., will officially be known as the northern assembly; assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S., as the southern assembly, and the United Presbyterian church will be known by that title, as it is short enough, for convenient use.

Each assembly will hold its separate meetings, two a day, and then gather together at night for one general meeting.

Friday afternoon they will come together in the Baptist Tabernacle for communion.

The northern assembly opens its meetings at the Tabernacle on Luckie street, Thursday morning, 10:30 o'clock, with a sermon by the retiring moderator, Dr. Mark A. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Seattle, Wash., which is said to be the largest Presbyterian church in the world, having a membership of something like 5,000. Thursday afternoon the northern assembly will perfect its assembly by electing a moderator. Prominently mentioned for this position are; Dr. Maitland Alexander, of Stamford, Conn.; Dr. Williams, Columbus, Ohio; Dr. Howard Johnson, Stamford, Conn.; Dr. William McKibbin, Cincinnati. The newly-elected moderator will immediately assume his position, and preside over the meetings of his assembly.

Reports Will Be Made.

Reports of the boards in charge of missions and benevolences of this assembly will be made on this date, it is thought. Several other reports will be referred to standing committees, and the annual report of the executive committee will be submitted.

The southern assembly will open in the North Avenue Presbyterian church Thursday at 10:30 o'clock, all meetings of this assembly being scheduled to take place in this church. The retiring moderator, Dr. Thomas S. Clyze, of Sherman, Texas, will deliver his farewell sermon on this date. Thursday afternoon a new moderator will be selected.

All of the Fulton county Presbyterian churches are members of the southern assembly, with the exception of the Harris street church, which is numbered with the northern assembly.

The United Presbyterian assembly meets in the Central Presbyterian church, on Washington street. The opening meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock, when Dr. H. H. Bell, retiring moderator, will deliver an address. Thursday morning a new moderator will be elected, and take immediate charge of the assembly.

Reports of the various missionary and benevolent boards will be heard at various conferences.

Besides the three assemblies and their committees, and committeemen, twenty-five commissioners, comprising the Associated Reform Presbyterian church assembly, will be present to represent their church at the various popular meetings. However, they will hold no assembly, as theirs is an triennial affair, and this is not the year for such.

Every conference and meeting will be held open to the public, and all interested are cordially invited to attend.

The official souvenir program, compiled by L. L. Knight, will be put on sale today. This is handsomely illustrated and will be a pleasant remembrance of the convention.

COLLEGE JOURNALISTS WERE HEROES AT EMORY YESTERDAY

Oxford, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Interest between classes today at Emory college centered around the students who are taking the course in journalism and who returned there early this morning from their one-day's lesson on The Constitution. Copies of The Constitution are at a premium and reminiscences of the descent on Atlanta were being retailed to numberless groups on the campus. The enthusiasm of the boys grew even more pronounced with distance from the event and it is easily seen that the experience has made an abiding impression on them.

The start home from Atlanta was made on the 12:10 o'clock train Tuesday morning. The boys were tolerably exhausted from the unusual demands of the day, but were too highly keyed up for sleep. On the way down to Covington conversation was fast and lively, taking a new tack every time some youngster came forward with a unique incident of his fling at the newspaper game. The trip to Covington was quickly made under these circumstances and in the early morning hours the young men tumbled into bed to dream of "beats" and of tempting newspaper jobs.

Dr. Wrighton Pleased.

Today they infused the entire college with their enthusiasm. Between times in recitation rooms and on the campus the "veterans" of the day before held the boards. The students who hadn't made the trip were soon disabused of the idea that it was merely a frolic. The boy who had "been on the job" pulled a paper from his hip pocket, pointed out his particular "stunt," and told of the lessons, some harrowing and some amusing, that he gleaning of it had taught him. Dr. Wightman F. Melton, who has charge of the chair of journalism and upon whose initiative the experiment was made, was eminently satisfied with the result. He declares the principles the boys learned yesterday are worth many months' study of theory.

President Dickey is himself delighted with the outcome and with the courtesy shown the boys by The Constitution. Emory day on The Contitution is sure to go down as highly eventful and significant in the annuals of the historic old college.

INJUNCTION CAN CLOSE SALOONS IN SAVANNAH

Supreme Court Decides Any Place Where Liquor Is Sold Illegally Is Blind Tiger.

Savannah, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Any place where liquor is sold illegally is technically a "blind tiger" and can be closed by injunction as a public nuisance.

This is the gist of a decision rendered by the Georgia supreme court today, in the Savannah east side saloon cases. Under this ruling a "blind tiger" is not necessarily a place where liquor is sold on the sly.

This aspect of this comes as a serious jolt to those who have believed with Judge Charlton, of the superior court, that a "blind tiger" is a place where sales are made on the sly and not in the open, as is the case in Savannah.

The defense of the defendants in the half dozen east side cases, was that their sales are not secretly made, that there is nothing done on the sly by them, and consequently they could not be classified as "blind tigers." Under this ruling anyone who is in a position to prove illegal sales could obtain an injunction against any saloon in the state and the court would have to close the place permanently as a public nuisance.

The complainants in the east side cases are extremely jubilant over the outcome of the litigation. They assert, through their counsel, that the cases will be pressed for trial at an early date. Only one case actually went to trial. The defense offered no evidence and the case was appealed on an agreed state of facts, which involved sales of liquor. There are six cases in all.

Another interesting feature of the situation is the fact that the defendants have paid their 1913 near-beer license.

HANDSOME NEW STATION OPENED AT BARNESVILLE

Barnesville, Ga., May 13.—(Special.) The handsome new passenger station of the Central of Georgia Railway company has been formally opened, and is pronounced a beauty by everybody. For many years the citizens of Barnesville have been clamoring for better depot facilities and the railroad authorities have now generously provided them. The new station is said by many to be the best on the entire Central system. The patrons are highly appreciative of both the passenger and freight stations, which the Central has recently provided for this city and community.

STONE WILL ASK PROBE OF STATE FARM SCHOOLS

He Believes District Agricultural Institutions Are Costing State Too Much Money.

Augusta, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—According to a statement made today by Hon. C. H. Stone, representative from Talliaferro county in the next legislature, he will introduce a resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee of the house and senate to investicate the district agricultural schools of the state, find out how the state's money is being spent by these institutions and what this sort of education is costing the state for each student.

Mr. Stone is convinced that some of the district agricultural schools are costing the state too much money.

"I am told," said he, "that the state furnishes $10,000 per year to run this school in the tenth district, and that they have on an average of fifty pupils, each pupil costing the state $200 per year for furnishing the place and teachers to educate him. And in addition each pupil has to pay $10 per month for his board and furnish all of his own clothes. If this is correct this education is costing too much money. It can be furnished on a different basis for less money.

"I am somewhat inclined to the opinion that in all of the common schools of the state there should be introduced elementary agricultural studies, especially in the schools in the country where farming is carried on. In this way the education would be brought to the home of the farmer instead of having to send his children to a district school, where each child apparently in this district costs the state $200 per year. I would also like to know how this money is being spent by these schools, how high salaries they pay and what the recipients of these salaries do to earn them.

"I think it is a proper matter for the state to look after, especially when the state is putting up the money for them to spend."

GARDENS DRYING UP; RAIN BADLY NEEDED

Weather Man Throws Out the "Fair Weather" Flag for Today.

Gardens around Atlanta are still drying up and the small truck farmer sees no chance for crisp beans and early roasting ears, or any of the produce of his garden which sells readily in a big city.

Despite the fact that Tuesday afternoon was rather cloudy part of the time and that the air was sultry enough to precede a thunder storm, the weatherman boldly flung up his "Fair Weather" flag, and stated that the conditions were favorable for warmer weather and clear skies.

The temperature rose as high as 76 degrees by 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and it is expected that by the same hour today the top of the mercury column will be flush with the figure 80 on the glass tube of the official thermometer.

EDWIN GRANNATT WILL BE LAID TO REST TODAY

The funeral of Edwin F. Grannatt, aged 34, who died Monday night, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at his residence, 246 Peachtree Circle. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

The following friends have been chosen to act as pallbearers: E. C. Calaway, Alex W. Smith, Henry Johnson, Jr., W. C. Webber, Victor Lamar Smith and A. Ten Eyck Brown.

Mr. Grannatt, who is survived only by his wife, came here a few months ago a comparative stranger, to promote the erection of a mausoleum, over which a fight is now being made before the county commissioners. During the short time of his residence here he had made many friends. He came here from New York.

ATLANTA CAMERA CLUB TO ORGANIZE TONIGHT

Formal plans of organization will be laid at the meeting tonight and all members and others who are interested in the work of cameras have been invited to be present.

AMERICUS MERCHANT ARRESTED AS TIGER

Americus, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Sheriff Fuller made another raid this morning on the premises occupied by Charles Underwood, local merchant, and confiscated several barrels of liquor. Despite the fact that the liquor was found upon his premises, Underwood denied its ownership. He was arrested and required to give $1,000 bond. Underwood has been arrested frequently upon similar charges of violation of the state prohibition laws.

Athens Bonds Validated.

Athens, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—One hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars' worth of city bonds were today validated and will be put on the market at once. One hundred thousand dollars is for school additions and improvements and $75,000 to be added to the regular sum appropriated annually to get a good start in putting down more permanent pavements in the business and residence sections.

Muscogee Jury Busy.

Columbus, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—The Muscogee county grand jury is grinding out true bills by the score this week and bailiffs serving the warrants are kept going day and night. Fifty-three bills was the record for one day.

County Board to Have Charge of Harriett Hawkes Home

Through the taking over by the county commissioners of the projected Harriet Hawkes home and the 50-acre tract and $12,000 in subscriptions, it is expected that within a year a home for incorrigible women and girls will be provided for.

For some time directors of the home have been in conference with the county commissioners in regard to the county's taking over the work which they started and at a meeting of the aims and juvenile committee Tuesday morning it was decided to make a favorable report to the main body upon the subject.

The tract of land donated by A. K. Hawkes in memory of his mother is on Stewart avenue and is regarded as an ideal place for such a home. Its use for this purpose is taken to mean that the county will erect a home for incorrigible negro youths on the 500-acre site on the Chattahoochee river.

Full plans for the work the commissioners intend to do upon the home have not been decided upon, but it is the idea to make the place a modern and thoroughly equipped place and to follow out as far as possible the original plans as laid out when the project was started as a private enterprise.

LANE'S SLAYER LYNCHED

Negro Was Taken From County Jail at Hogansville.

Hogansville, Ga., May 13.—(Special.) The negro, Sam Owensby, who killed Brooks Lane, 2 miles south of Franklin yesterday, was taken from the county jail last night about 10:30 o'clock, hanged to a large tree at the east end of the Chattahoochee bridge and riddled with bullets. Everything is quiet.

Sheriff Lee Taylor had planned to take the negro either to Newnan or Atlanta for safe keeping, but when this plan became known he was told that the negro would be killed if an effort were made to remove him from the jail.

By 9 o'clock the crowd that had gathered in town during the afternoon had dispersed and the streets were deserted. Sheriff Taylor and two deputies remained on guard at the jail. An hour later the mob quietly slipped back to town, overpowered the sheriff and deputies and got the prisoner.

FOR YEARS A SUFFERER---NOW PERFECTLY HEALTHY

Mr. J. S. Calicutt, of 55 Wyman street, Atlanta, Ga., has suffered for years with the worst form of stomach trouble, bloating, belching and constipation. While in search of relief Mr. Calicutt has taken many different treatments, all to no avail. For weeks at times he was unable to work. Mr. Calicutt says he has not been able to undergo the slightest exertion for at least six weeks. At that time he called at Coursey & Munn's drug store and was advised to purchase one bottle of Quaker Extract. Now, after seven days, Mr. Calicutt reports that he feels better than he has in years, and last week he returned to work. He is loud, and justly so, in his praises, and declares Quaker is the best medicine in the world. It should be known by all that the Quaker remedies are not cure-alls. If you suffer with lung or throat trouble, or some contagious disease, the attention of your family physician or specialist is necessary. Such cases will not be cured by Quaker Remedies. For catarrh in any form, kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble, indigestion, constipation, try Quaker Extract at once—today. You will be most agreeably surprised at the astonishingly quick results. A great number of local people have already been cured, and every day more and more cures are reported.

Now, these are a few more good reports of the good the Quaker Remedies are doing. Why will you wait and suffer when you see your neighbors being cured all around you. Brilliant Assemblage Marks Annual Election of Driving Club

Officers Elected.

Officers of the Piedmont Driving club were elected at the annual meeting last night. They are as follows:

President—J. H. Nunnally.

Vice President—Brooks Morgan.

New Members Board of Governors—John S. Cohen and Preston Arkwright.

The complete membership of the board of governors for the coming year: Jack Spalding, George C. Walters, Jesse Draper, John S. Cohen, and Preston Arkwright.

J. H. Nunnally and Brooks Morgan, president and vice president, were re-elected.

Not even the enlargement of the terrace at the Piedmont Driving club, the addition of the private dining rooms, and all the space there is for the entertainment of guests, kept that popular place from being crowded yesterday, when, following the annual election, there was the annual reception of the members of the club and their lady friends.

Following the annual meeting which took place at 6 o'clock, there was a brilliant assemblage of ladies on the terrace awaiting the gentlemen who had attended the meeting and then there was the separating into the groups making up the various parties.

The tables were on the terrace, each beautifully decorated with flowers, and at 7:30 an elegant supper was served. An orchestra furnished popular music and the scene was one beautiful and picturesque.

The ladies wore the most attractive of toilets, reflecting the first glimpses of marked summer styles, and the picture hat was in evidence. Feathers, flowers and ribbons held their own, and there were all the accessory things in wraps and hose, and the little things that make up the prettiest of summer toilets.

After the reception and supper the ball room was thrown open and dancing was enjoyed by several hundred people. The porches and terrace were never deserted and the club never presented a more brilliant scene.

It was estimated that five hundred guests were entertained and the service was excellent.

An Interesting Comparison.

It was interesting to the older members to note the growth of the club from the little stone house and the well and the big trees which marked the scene of the first club house to the space covered by the club yesterday.

Brilliant entertaining distinguished the club from the beginning, and during the last twenty-five years the driving club has been one of the factors in the city's upbuilding in a never-failing hospitality to the people from everywhere who have visited Atlanta. Whether the crowd has been large or small, the club has kept open house, and done its best, a recent incident of this being the dinner dance recently given to the grand opera stars when 560 guests were entertained at an elaborate dinner, followed by a dance.

The club has grown phenomenally in the last few years, and under the splendid management of Mr. James H. Nunnally has presented the ideal plan for the country club with a splendid business side. Mr. Nunnally has repeatedly made the effort to resign, but his friends will not accept it, and his protests against re-election are ignored when year after year the election holds and the club members assemble in annual convention. Mr. Brooks Morgan is the efficient vice-president of the club, who renders valiant assistance to the official board.

Visiting Belles Present.

The visiting belles in the city added to the social interest of the occasion.

Miss Carr, of St. Louis, who is visiting Mrs. Bates Block, wore a Lucile gown of blue embroidered chiffon and lace with a black hat, and Miss Scott's becoming costume was of accordion plaited ruffles and lace in white with an old rose sash, and her white hat was trimmed with old rose plumes.

Mrs. Block wore a white gown of lace and chiffon with a black picture hat.

Miss Gaut, of Nashville, the guest of Mrs. Andrew Calhoun, wore an imported white Chinese silk embroidered and a white hat with pink plumes.

Mrs. Calhoun wore white charmeuse draped with chiffon embroidered in pink rose buds. Its trimming was of white Chantilly lace and the wide girdle and sash ends were of pink chiffon. Her hat was of white lace with pink plumes.

Miss Ruth Wilson, of New York, the guest of Miss Helen Dargan, was gowned in white satin panelled with lace and her black tulle hat was trimmed with pink roses. Miss Dargan wore an ecru shadow lace gown, the skirt in two flounces, having borders of pink ribbon roses showing through the lace and the wide girdle of blue flowered silk. Her hat was of blue hemstitched chiffon.

Mrs. James Hook Spratling, of Macon, the guest of Mrs. Roy Collier, wore a cream lace gown and a French hat in shades of pink and blue. Mrs. Collier wore light blue charmeuse and chiffon with a black hat and blue plumes.

Miss Gwendolyn Barnes, of Uniontown, Pa., the guest of Miss Alice Vandiver, wore a Lucile gown of pink and blue chiffon with a lace hat. Miss Vandiver wore a Callot gown of white voile embroidered in green and old rose and trimmed with Cluny lace. Her girdle was old rose color and her tulle hat was trimmed with roses.

Miss Phinizy's Beautiful Gown.

Miss Marion Phinizy, of Augusta, the guest of Miss Harriet Calhoun, wore a white lace gown draped with pink chiffon and her blue chiffon hat was trimmed with pink roses. Miss Calhoun wore white lace over flesh-colored satin and her white lace hat was trimmed with royal blue velvet.

Miss Lula Dean Jones and her guest, Miss Nelson Chambliss, of Chattanooga, were elaborate white lingerie dresses and pink flowered hats.

Miss Robyn Young was charming in a French gown of peach blow taffetas with tunic of yellow platted in yellow, and her hat of yellow straw was trimmed in a swirl of aigrettes.

Miss McPheeters, of Raleigh, N. C., was gowned in apricot pink satin charmeuse and chiffon and her lace hat was trimmed in roses. Miss Anne Selden, of Washington, wore a becoming costume in pink and white. Miss Maud Arthur-Weir, of Toronto, Canada, wore white satin and shadow lace with a pink chiffon sash, and her leghorn hat was trimmed with pink roses.

Miss Ellen Meeks, of Nashville, wore white silk marquisette trimmed with lace and rhinestones and a black picture hat.

Miss Gladys Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Phillips, of this city, and Clarence High, of Birmingham, eloped to Fayetteville, Tenn., Sunday afternoon in company with several of their young friends and were married. Twenty-four of her friends among the unmarried set were assembled to meet her guests, Miss Carr, of St. Louis, and Miss Scott, of Van Buren, Ark., and a delightful hospitality was extended them.

The game was played in the house, which was filled with the delicate fragrance of sweetpeas, quantities of these flowers in all their colors filling vases and bowls throughout the reception floor. The bridge prizes were dainty pieces of hand-made lingerie.

Tea was served out of doors, the ten table set in a charming little formal garden which looks out over the hedges of roses and sweetpeas all in bloom beyond the tea garden. The tea table was decorated in sweetpeas and daintiness and artistic taste characterized the detail of the occasion.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Mille.

"The electric needle for the removal of superfluous hair is both painful and expensive. A quick, safe and sure way to remove wild hairs is to apply a little powdered delatone mixed with water. Just cover the hairs with this paste for a minute or two, wipe off, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone.

"Spring colds are often more stubborn than colds brought on by winter exposure. Mother's Salve will break up an ordinary cold in head or chest overnight. It is easy to use, quick to act, and relieves catarrh, croup, sore throat.

"To keep the skin fair, fresh and smooth, apply in the morning a lotion made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. It will not rub off or show like powder, and prevents the growth of hair. Mayatone quickly corrects dark, sallow and blotchy complexions.

"You can recommend Mother's Shampoo to your husband and he will thank you for it. Many men who shave themselves do not shampoo frequently enough. Dandruff, falling hair and baldness are caused by a parasite, and Mother's Shampoo removes these parasites. It restores dry, brittle and faded hair to a glossy, fluffy condition, and keeps the scalp healthy.

Superfluous Hair Truths

Stop Experimenting

There are but few depilatories sold. You think there are hundreds because you have used the same identical preparations under several different names. This is easily explained. Women stop using

So-Called Hair Removers

when they learn that they are harmful. Therefore, th y can not be sold under the same name for any length of time. Then the identical, worthless, harmful concoctions are given new names and advertised again as totally different preparations to who innocently buy them over and over again under different names, and this will continue as long as women are so unwise as to experiment with unknown, so-called hair removers.

De Miracle

Has Stood the Test of Time

De Miracle has been sold as De Miracle for over eleven years, and its name has never been changed. It is acknowledged the world over by eminent authorities as the one safe, perfected hair remover, therefore it is the only depilatory you can use without experimenting.

Leaves No Tell-Tale Smell

If you use De Miracle it will be impossible for any curious person to know that you have used a hair remover because De Miracle evaporates immediately after accomplishing its work, therefore leaves no odor whatever. On the other hand, if you use any depilatory with a distinctive odor, an offensive, tell-tale smell will cling to your skin for hours.

Avoid Permanent Disfigurement

by refusing substitutes. If your dealer will not supply you, send $1.00 direct. Free information how to determine which depilatories are harmful and worthless sent in plain, sealed envelope.

GA. BANKERS CONVENE IN MACON THURSDAY

Fight Will Be Made to Secure Association's Indorsement of New Banking Bill.

Macon, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—The twenty-second annual convention of the Georgia Bankers' association convenes in Macon Thursday evening, the chief interest this year centering about the proposed new banking bill which it is desired to have the association indorse. Three of the five groups have indorsed the bill, but two failed to do so and the fight will have to be waged in the state convention with the odds a little in favor of the indorsement of the bill, one of the chief provisions of which is a state superintendent of banks.

It is reported also that somewhat of a fight may be made against the re-election of Orville A. Park, general counsel for the association, when the annual election is held on Saturday. President Benjamin W. Hunt, of Eatonton, recently scored Mr. Park severely for a statement he is alleged to have made before the meeting of group 5, in Macon a few weeks ago, in which it is said Mr. Park told the bankers they could control legislation by withholding loans from young legislators who call on them for funds before going to the legislature.

Mr. Hunt came out in a letter denouncing Mr. Park for the alleged statement and declaring that such a view was not representative of the bankers of the state. Mr. Park replied that he was only joking when he made the statement and did not attach any importance to it. Despite this fact, it is said that Mr. Park may have to fight if he holds his position.

William J. Burns, the detective; Burgess Smith, inventor of the currency washing machine, and C. W. Fink, a finger-print expert, will be present and address the bankers. Burgess Smith is the son of City Clerk Bridges Smith, of Macon, and is employed in the treasury department at Washington.

The annual group dinners will be held on Thursday night, preceding the formal opening of the convention on Friday morning. This banquet will be held on the ninth floor of the new Dempsey hotel, which will be headquarters for the convention, and all local and visiting bankers are invited to attend. The old group officers will represent the various groups at these dinners.

Of course the big social event of the convention will be the annual banquet on Friday night in the banquet hall at the Dempsey. Arrangements will be made to seat 350 people at this dinner and the ladies, wives and sweethearts will also be among the guests. The banquet will cost between $3 and $4 per plate, and under a rule adopted by the bankers' association each member will pay for his own plate. This was done to relieve the city and business members from the heavy burden of paying for the elaborate spread in addition to other entertainment provided.

The members of the American Bankers' association with E. A. Pendleton vice president for Georgia presiding, will meet after the group meetings to elect a representative on the executive council of the A. B. A., a vice president for Georgia and a delegate to the Boston convention, who will serve on the nominating committee.

Horseman Dies Suddenly.

Macon, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—J. A. W. Field, one of the best known live stock dealers in Georgia, died suddenly this morning at his home on Vineville avenue, death being due to a form of paralysis.

Mr. Warfield had not been in good health for some time, but was about his office yesterday and seemed to be no worse off than at any other time. He was 48 years of age, and is survived by two daughters and one son, Mrs. J. D. Stamps, Miss Elsie Warfield and James B. Warfield.

Mr. Walfield was a member of the firm of Warfield & Co., his partner being J. B. Kimball. His hobby was the raising of race horses, and he has worked some speedy ones on the local track. The body will be taken to his former home at Elizabethtown, Ky., for funeral and interment.

Child Drinks Poison.

Macon, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—When little 2-year-old Elijah Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thad Brown, Plant and South College streets, saw a bottle of something which looked as though it might be good to drink, sitting on the sewing machine in the dining room of his home, the child picked it up and placing it to his lips took a swallow.

His mother, who had placed the bottle there a few minutes before and had gone out into the yard, heard the child scream and rushed back into the house. She found the child writhing on the floor with his face badly burned and suffering intense agony.

The bottle had contained carbolic acid, and the child swallowed a good portion of it. Doctors were summoned and after working with the child for more than three hours announced that the outcome was still in doubt. It is not believed there is much hope of recovery.

Volunteers Name Burt.

Macon, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—William G. Burt has been nominated by Governor Slaton to succeed Capt. Captain John B. Harris, who recently sent in his resignation. Balcom will be in command of the company. The Volunteers have presented Captain Harris with a gold watch in appreciation of his services to the company.

A ROUSING WELCOME GIVEN DR. MATTHEWS AT BOYHOOD HOME

Calhoun, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Dr. Mark Allison Matthews, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church (northern), visited Calhoun, his native town, today. He was given a warm welcome by his friends, who met him in large numbers at the depot.

A public reception was tendered him this afternoon by the Woman's club in the park by the club house. The local band was present and rendered good music, and refreshments were served.

Tonight at 8 o'clock a great homecoming service was held at the Methodist church and the seating capacity of the building was taxed to its utmost, many being unable to gain admittance. The meeting was presided over by Dr. W. H. Darnall, the local Presbyterian pastor, and the address of welcome was given by Miss Lulie Price, a former schoolmate of Dr. Matthews. A poem of welcome, composed especially for the occasion, was read by Mrs. E. M. Harlan. Dr. Matthews gave a very interesting address and expressed his delight at being back in the home of his boyhood.

At the close of the meeting, Dr. Darnall, on behalf of the Calhoun friends, presented Dr. Matthews with a beautiful ebony gavel, handsomely bound in silver and engraved, with which to open the great assembly in Atlanta.

Dr. Matthews was born and reared in Calhoun and began his ministry at the little Presbyterian church here. He went from here to the First church, Dalton and from there to Jackson, Tenn., from which latter place he was called to his present pastorate, the First Presbyterian church of Seattle, Wash. This is the largest Presbyterian church in the world. Dr. Matthews leaves Calhoun for Atlanta Wednesday morning to meet with the executive committee of the assembly.

Plates will be laid for 200 guests.

SPEED RECORD FOR PROPOSALS SMASHED BY ATLANTA COUPLE

"I love you. Will you marry me?" "Yes, if you'll wait until I eat breakfast."

New York and Chicago may have Atlanta beaten in population and a few other trivial things, but that conversation certainly breaks the world's record for proposals and acceptances.

It was held in Atlanta yesterday morning between Dr. John R. Smith, who is in charge of the Coffee county sanitarium at Douglas, and Miss Emma Wofford, of 28 Alaska street—and over the telephone, at that.

As soon as Dr. Smith arrived in town he called up Miss Wofford. Just exactly an hour and 15 minutes afterwards, she was Mrs. John R. Smith. As soon as the ceremony was over, the bride called up her mother and held another conversation that broke records for brevity.

"Mother, I've just married 'John,'" was all she said.

And, the mother, not to be outdone, simply replied, "All right, if you'll come home, I'll bless you. I just can't do it over the phone."

Wrong Parson Nabbed.

Savannah, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Savannah's colored population was thrown into a fever of excitement today by the arrest of Rev. Daniel Wright, pastor of the First Bryan Baptist church. A bench warrant was issued by the county ordinary for the arrest of Joseph W. White, pastor of a little church on the Ogeechee road, and the officer made a mistake and arrested the wrong man. No sooner had the word been passed around that Pastor Wright was being held than it seemed every colored man and woman in the city became aroused in behalf of the minister, and either called at the ordinary's office in person or telephoned. The minister was detained only a few minutes before he was released.

The trouble grew out of an alteration that was made in a marriage license.

BUFFALO BILL'S AD CAR REACHES CITY MONDAY

Buffalo Bill's advertising car No. 1 is due to arrive in this city on Monday, May 19th, via the N. C. & St. L. railway, and will remain on the side track near the station until the crews and country for 50 miles in every direction are thoroughly billed.

This modern office on wheels is a marvel of compactness and elegance, embracing as it does a press-bureau, with agents, writers, cuts, copy and illustrations equal to the best equipped newspaper office. It also carries a supply of all kinds of printing, posters, programs, circulars and lithographs sufficient to advertise a week of one-day stands, and this abundance of material is judiciously distributed throughout the country from house to house and on the bill boards. The car is 70 feet long, and is divided into compartments to accommodate everything required.

The big show will be here on Monday, June 9.

WANTS LEGISLATURE TO MOVE HIS FARM FROM HART TO ELBERT

Athens, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—J. R. Maxwell, a prominent farmer of Hart county, wants a special act of the legisalture passed which will move his plantation into Elbert county. His father owned the place years ago, and had it moved from Elbert into Hart—the Georgia legislature turning the trick for him.

Now that Mr. Maxwell lived in Hartwell and his farm in Elbert necessitated many trips to Elberton. What was easier than to move his farm into the county in which he lived? He, therefore, had the legislature change the line dividing the counties so that it ran straight for lines till his place was reached when it made a detour just to include his plantation inside Hart. Now the heirs live on the place and are surrounded on three sides by Elbert and Hartsfield county citizens, having to go 7 miles to a justice of the peace in their own county—the plantation being in a corner out off. The bill will be introduced straightening out the line and shifting a bit of area and population from Hart to Elbert.

FOR CITY BEAUTIFUL THEY ARE WORKING

New York, May 13.—Aiming to establish art commissions as a protection against the "city hideous," and a help toward the "city beautiful," representatives of sixteen states and municipalities were welcomed to New York today by Mayor Gaynor. He said that while western cities had a great advantage in the matter of public buildings because they profited by the east's mistakes, yet the municipal architecture of New York was improving with its morals.

LOST BEAUTY OF WOMEN

Can Be Remedied, in Many Instances, According to Statement of Mrs. Lucile McElroy.

Laurel, Miss.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Lucile McElroy says: "I was sick for three years, with backache, headache, pains in my stomach and back, low down. At times, I could not do a thing, I was so weak.

After I was married, I thought I would try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and after using two or three bottles, I couldn't tell one day from another—felt good all the time.

I not only still use Cardui, but advise every lady I think needs it, to give it a trial, and several whom I have persuaded say they have obtained great relief.

Another good thing I have noticed about Cardui is that it fills out hollows under the eyes which are sunken as if from a bad spell of sickness. It fleshens up a woman's eyes, and makes them look bright and plump. Many a woman would be pretty if it were not for her sunken-in eyes.

I believe that Cardui, the woman's tonic, is the only treatment for women."

Do you suffer from womanly trouble? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

Judging from the experience of a million other women who have been benefited by this remedy, it should surely do you good.

EDISON made ten thousand attempts before he produced the incandescent lamp. What right have you to kick? Don't blow, but show what you can do. Stump speakers are cheap. Any one can rave that "the world owes me a living." The world owes you nothing you can't collect. How many attempts have you made?

Get in or get out of line. Win—don't whine. The world needs your service as never before. But it hasn't time to hunt for you and throw you into the job, bag and baggage. You look, but don't observe. There's a difference. It's push not pull that counts. Stand still a bit longer and the other chap with grit in his get-up will push the door to the world wide open, enter and slam it shut in your face.

There can never be an end to the demand for the best. If you've got the goods deliver 'em and we'll pay the freight. Think! It's lack of thought that makes failures. Think what you can do, what you want to do. Then phone it to Main 5000 or Atlanta 109. Three lines three times for 15 cents under the Situation Wanted. They make good for others and they'll make good for you. We play no favorites in The Constitution's Classified.

No, not tomorrow. Today's the time. There never was a better saying than "Do it NOW."

The local infield kicked away a game of baseball behind Brady yesterday, two rotten errors letting two men on the paths after two had been retired. Two runs were tallied.

CRACKERS NOW IN FOURTH PLACE

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Moving Around.

PIGGY PAIGE has made another move. He has been signed up by Bill Schwartz, of the Nashville Volunteers. Paige is changing around as frequently as Bert Maxwell did and others that might be mentioned. George has seen service in this league with New Orleans, Atlanta and Montgomery, and now Nashville. And with all that, he is a good pitcher when going good.

Wonderful Control.

MATHEWSON, the great pitcher of the New York Giants, is showing better control than at any time in his history. Can you imagine such a pitcher? In the last forty-seven innings he has failed to issue free transportation to a batsman and the his fourteenth season as a pitcher. Oh, for a few more Mathewson's, shouts Muggsy. It might be mentioned, in passing, if the Cracker hurlers had such control, there would be fewer ball games lost.

Will They Lose?

COLLEGE baseball fans are wondering, if the Dartmouth team, which has an uncanny way of doing the most unexpected, will be the team to break the wonderful record of the Yale Bulldogs. The Elis have won fourteen straight games this season and seem destined to win the eastern college title. Only one game has been lost this season, Pennsylvania, winning the first game of the season, but Yale has since defeated the Red and Blue twice. Dartmouth plays the Bulldogs today.

Season's Find.

TOMMY LONG is the season's find on the local team. When Bill Smith plcked this fellow up, there were many fans who could not see where he had strengthened his team. But Tommy came here, went to work quietly, nailed down a regular berth and has been leading the team with the stick from the jump, besides playing a sensational game in the outer meadows. Tommy has the big league bug in his bonnet, and if he maintains his present clip there is no question about it being satisfied.

Going Great.

ATLANTANS are cutting a wide swath in the Empire State league pennant race. Otto Jordan as Valdosta, Charlie Wahoo at Waycross and Hal Griffin at Americus are going great guns. The first named two have their clubs right in the fight, while Griffin has just taken over the management of the Americus team and hopes to right it before long.

Drawing Well.

THE CRACKERS are good drawing cards on the road. The attendance in every city that they have visited has been above expectations and the trip, although to date not a success from a standing viewpoint, has been very successful from the box office end.

Breaking Bad.

JOE BIRMINGHAM, manager of the Cleveland Naps, has had all the bad breaks this season. He had his club up in the fight and since the arrival of Finn prospects of his keeping it there. But Dame Fortune would not have it so. Lajoie is out of the game with two broken fingers and the mogul himself smashed a small bone in his ankle Monday and will be out for a month. Such a loss at this stage of the race hurts, as the weaker sisters may recover themselves in a month's time.

Speaking of Hurts

CLARK GRIFFITH can raise a yell about injuries too. Having Chick Gandil and Eddie Foster, the two bulwarks on each end of the infield, out of the game at one time is tough. But the Senators are keeping in reaching distance and with these two men back in harness once more, watch out for the Washingtons! They'll bear watching and considerable at that.

Kling Reinstated.

Cincinnati, May. 13.—The national baseball commission today reinstated Player John G. Kling in good standing without the imposition of a penalty. This was done upon his representation that his failure to report to the Boston club, of the National league, for service during the season of 1913 was due to a determination to give all of his time and attention to his business interests at Kansas City.

Wallie Smith Sets Season's Mark for Consecutive Hits; Makes Five Straight Blows

Memphis, Tenn., May 13.—(Special.) For the second time in as many days, Memphis overcame an apparently safe lead and defeated the Atlanta Crackers by the score of 8 to 5. Bunched hits, sandwiched in between errors, brought about victory in the ninth. The visitors got away to a flying start, due to some timely hitting and a horrible error by Herrell, whose wild throw to first gave the visitors two scores.

Brady outpitched Harrell, but his support failed him in the ninth. That's the whole story.

Wallie's Great Clouting.

Smith got back in the game and was there with the tinkle bells on him, securing five hits, all singles, in as many trip to the plate. It was just as well for the Memphians that nobody decorated the trot lanes when Wallie, the Walloper, waved his welghty willow.

Memphis took the lead in the first, when Baerwald freed himself from a homer. However, Smith's horde came right back in the second and evened the count, and in the third assumed a commanding lead.

Bailey and Smith hit safely. Bisland hit to short and the maimed Bailey was blotted out at home. Graham singled. Then, with two down, Brady rolled to Harrell. Harrell fielded the ball cleanly and, with all the time in this wide and wondrous universe, he cut loose with a horrible haste to first. Naturally both runners scored, which, together with Smith's counter, increased the total to four.

The Nightmare Round.

Another was added in the seventh on a single by Smith and Bisland's double. All the while the Memphians had been coming from behind. They entered the ninth with the score standing 4 to 5 against them. With two down, Baerwald drew life on Agler's boot. Bisland caught the fever and olive-oiled Love's contribution.

Ward singled through short and the score was tied. Then came Merritt, the Atlanta nemesis. Merritt hit safely a sharp grounder that hurdled Bisland's head. Love tallied and the well-known bumps were off.

Smith says either Musser or Price for tomorrow. Kleinegger is due for the locals. Bailey is still in bad shape, though playing regularly.

Smith figures by playing Harry in right much of the strain on his injured stem will be removed.

Valdosta 9, Cordele 5.

Cordele, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Cordele lost the game to Valdosta this afternoon by the score of 9 to 5. Corbett opened up in the box for Cordele. He was pretty wild, walking several and being hit heavily. He was taken out in the third inning and Hall went in to do the twirling for the home team, after which Valdosta found it extremely hard to score. Zellers pitched a splendid game for the visitors, weakening slightly in the box. Corbett given brilliant support. Wassen featured the game with four hits out of four times up. Morse, Valdosta's first baseman, was put out of the game in the third inning for disputing the umpire.

Sitting, of Waycross, got a home run in the second with the bases full. The fans presented him with a purse. Three pitchers were used to stop Americus, but the visitors got hits when they counted, the winning run being made in the ninth by a couple of two-baggers. Pruitt was wild, walking four and making two wild pitches in two innings. The changes made in the Americus team by the new manager, Griffin, were quite noticeable in today's game. Chancey and Moran led in batting, each getting three hits out of five times up.

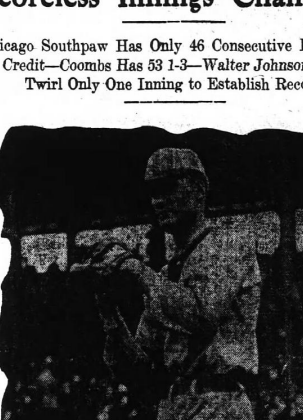
Cates and Wiggins occupied the mound for Brunswick, while Roth did the work for Thomasville. Cates lost his first game, being relieved in the fourth after three men were on. Jack Coombs, Not Doc White, Scoreless Innings Champion

Chicago Southpaw Has Only 46 Consecutive Rounds to Credit—Coombs Has 53 1-3—Walter Johnson Must Twirl Only One Inning to Establish Record.



He has only to pitch one full inning of scoreless ball to establish the world's record for consecutive shut-out innings. Jack Coombs holds present record, not "Doc" White.

By Dick Jemison.

Walter Johnson, Clark Griffith's "big Swede," has only to pitch one full inning in his next time out without being scored on to establish a world's record for pitching consecutive scoreless innings.

A story sent out from Chicago Saturday night stating that Walter Johnson's shut-out record was within three and one-third innings of the record made by G. Harris ("Doc") White, the great southpaw of the Chicago White Sox, is interesting, but it is not true.

The contention of said story was that White had, during the season of 1904, pitched fifty-six consecutive innings without being scored on.

Only Forty-Six Innings.

The Constitution's sporting editor checked through the old files of the paper Tuesday morning and located the inaccuracy of the contention that the White Sox southpaw holds the record.

His record is forty-six innings, and not fifty-six, as the facts below will prove.

The beginning of White's record was supposed to start August 31, when New York failed to score in the eighth in*ning and did not go to the bat* in the ninth, having the game already salted away.

The story referred to above goes on to say that on September 5, 12, 16, 19, 23, 30 and October 7 no runs were scored on him, in the last game St. Louis scoring on him in the second inning.

This is all true, but it makes no mention of the game of September 9, when Cleveland found the dentist for three runs.

The record at present is held by Jack Coombs, Connie Mack's Colby college chap, who pitched 58 1-3 innings in 1912 without being scored on.

Thus it will be seen that Johnson, with 52 2-3 innings of consecutive scoreless ball, has to twirl but one full inning to make his mark register one-third of an inning more than Coombs'.

The records of the three twirlers are given below.

DICK IRELAND BOOSTS LOCAL MOTORDROME

Dick Ireland, one of the old bicycle racing men, who is now in the automobile tire business in New York, was out Sunday to see the big motordrome being built by Jack Prince on the old circus grounds.

Mr. Ireland has always been interested in the racing game, whether it be bicycles, motorcycles or automobiles, and is a regular "fan" to all of the meets held at the Brighton Beach track in New York.

Speaking of the Atlanta motordrome, he said:

"Your track is much larger than the Brighton Beach track and banked a bit steeper and I see that Prince already has some good men here in Shields and Lockner, Lewis and McNeal.

"These men have been giving the Brighton Beach patrons plenty of thrills for the money, and with Graves, Lewis and Kenal the Atlanta public are in to see some real sport in motor racing.

"It has automobile racing heat off the boards for excitement and paced motorcycle racing is very tame to compare with it.

"When you figure that Walthour, following Lawson, rarely went better than forty-five miles per hour, while these riders will ride just twice as fast.

"In some of the races these men will ride the speed will often reach close to one hundred miles per hour and the finishes will be that close that inches will only separate five and six of them. It will be the fastest speed ever seen by anyone in such a small space.

"Scotty McNeal says he will ride miles on the Atlanta motordrome in thirty-seven seconds and I believe he will. Prince is building a big track and with plenty of room to seat his audience in the grandstand, but when the Atlanta people see one race meet of the motorcycles it will be standing room only on all the meets held afterwards."

Ewing Released.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 13.—"Bob" Ewing, formerly pitcher with the Cincinnati baseball team of the National league, who this season joined the Minneapolis team of the American association, was today unconditionally released by President M. E. Cantillon, of the local club. Cantillon also announced that Barney Pelty, recently purchased from the St. Louis Americans, has been sold to the Baltimore club of the International league.

Stahl Recovering.

Boston, May 13.—Jake Stahl, manager of the Boston Americans, is recovering rapidly from an operation performed upon one of his feet last week.

Physicians said today probably he would be able to join the Red Sox team in Chicago the last of this week. It had been feared that Stahl would be obliged to remain in Boston a month.

Confidence Will Play a Prominent Part in Big Games

Shoe Is on Other Foot Now, However, and Georgia Is Fighting With Backs to the Wall.

Confidence.

In a nutshell, this one word answers the surprise sprung on the baseball world of the state by the two victories Georgia Tech scored over their ancient rivals, the University of Georgia, last Friday and Saturday, in Athens.

Georgia was over-confident in the first game.

Tech was confident that the Georgia boys would be over-confident, and confident in their own ability to at least break even in the series.

Confidence will play a great part in the coming games at Grant field Friday and Saturday.

Shoe on Other Foot.

But this time the shoe will be on the other foot.

Tech will enter the contests with more confidence, naturally so, than they entered the games in Athens. But it will not be over-confidence.

It will be the confidence obtained from bringing two victories home in the face of what looked like sure defeat—victory in both games, when the best they hoped for was an even break.

Realising the miracle they wrought, it will be a confident Jacket bunch that will swarm on the field Friday—but, under the guidance of Coach Heisman, over-confidence will not be given a chance.

On the other hand, Georgia will have confidence in one thing—

The team's fighting ability.

Georgia Determined.

The Red and Black is backed up against the wall, fighting to regain the laurels so suddenly wrenched from their grasp and from such an unexpected source.

Determination—

This will be the Georgia team's one biggest asset in the coming series—a realization that their all-team's reputation is at stake and the eyes of the entire college baseball world is on them.

A team of fighters, the Georgia bunch is likely to come from behind and completely reverse the count in these games.

But one feature must be considered.

Georgia must fight carefully, not taking any long chances. Tech, with two games under their belts, can run wild on the bases, taking every long chance and trusting to the lucky "break."

Both coaches are working their men carefully, slowly and painstakingly, but for two opposite reasons.

Heisman is ready to bet the edge the team arrived at for these games—

Cunningham to work the Red and Black back to the fine clip they were traveling at when the Tech cyclone hit them.

Come what may—

Friday and Saturday will be some days—

Considerable—to be exact.

MARIST-B. H. S. GAME AT PONCEY TODAY

G. M. A. IS TROUNCED BY PEACOCK-FLEET

Peacock-Fleet administered a severe drubbing to the Georgia Military Academy aggregation yesterday afternoon by the count of 12 to 7. The game was an eight-inning affair and was rather a listless exhibition.

The Fourteenth street lads outplayed the losers in every way. Both teams did good work with the big stick, G. M. A. registering nine safe hits, while the winners came close with eight bingles to their credit.

Both teams, however, seemed rather off in the field. Numerous errors were registered on both sides, and they were usually grouped in the most dangerous periods.

Sams pitched a fine game for his team, causing eight men to whiff the breeze and giving only two base on balls. Sanders did fine work with the big stick. He registered one two-bagger and two singles out of four trips to the platter.

Jones, the cadets' lengthy right-fielder, drove out the only three-bagger of the game, while Schenk and Fox aided in the ball to advantage.

Anniston, Ala., May 13.—(Special.)—Anniston again made monkeys out of the Georgia Goober Grabbers from LaGrange this afternoon, taking the big end of a ragged game by the score of 22 to 4. Simon Pure Bell, 6 feet 8 inches, in the box, and White, a one-armed pitcher, in right field toward the latter part of the game afforded the diversion which was lacking in the game. A homer by Donaldson, of LaGrange, was one of the few features.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Under this head, the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: What is a passed ball?

A. J. F.

A passed ball is a legally delivered ball that the catcher should hold in control with ordinary effort, but his failure to do so enables the batsman, who becomes a base runner on such a pitched ball, to reach first base or a base runner to advance.

Sterrett fanned, and then Catcher Carisch threw to right field, trying to catch Daniels off first base, two more runs coming in. Chase and Jackson each got three hits in four times at bat. Detroit, May 13.—Boston today knocked Mullin from the box in less than three innings and defeated Detroit 6 to 1. The locals scored their only run off O'Brien in the fifth, when Moriarity doubled and came home on Vitt's single. Boston won the game in the first inning through a single by Hooper, an error, Yerkes' double and Gardner's sacrifice fly. Speaker tripled in the third and again in the seventh and each time he scored on a sacrifice fly by Lewis.

Lake, who replaced Mullin, gave way to Zemloch in the eighth and the recruit kept the champions from crossing the plate. In the second Cobb made two unsuccessful attempts to steal home. On the first occasion Cobb apparently beat the pitch, but the ball hit Stanage's bat and rolled foul; on the second attempt he missed the plate and was retired before he could return to touch it.

St. Louis, May 13.—St. Louis won an exciting game from Washington today by the score of 7 to 6. After St. Louis had a five-run lead in the third inning, Washington tied the score, owing to Hamilton's wildness and some fine base running. St. Louis scored four runs in the second, when Cashion filled the bases with walks and Agnew tripled and scored on a double steal. A base on balls and a double by Austin scored a run for St. Louis in the third. Washington tied the score in the fourth on singles by Schaefer and Milan, an error by Williams, two bases on balls, a single by A. Williams, who batted for Engle, and a double steal by McBride and Williams, all of which netted five runs. G. Williams' safe bunt, an error and Pratt's single scored a run for St. Louis in the fifth. Washington again tied the score in the sixth on singles by Morgan and Shanks and an out. ATLANTANS TO GIVE OSCAR WILDE'S PLAY IN AUGUSTA THEATER

Immediately after the performance in Atlanta of Oscar Wilde's play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," by the Atlanta Players' club, it is probable that the entire cast and scenery will be taken to Augusta for a performance at that place.

While the arrangements have not yet been definitely made, it is understood that the play is to be given for the benefit of some well known charity in Augusta, the players giving their services to the cause, beyond the expenses of the trip. The Atlanta performance, which will be given the latter part of next week or the following week, will also be for local charity. In past years quite considerable sums have been raised by the performances.

Rehearsals are taking place nightly at the Grand opera house, where the play is being staged, under the supervision of Warren A. Rogers, dramatic director of the club. The leading parts in the play are taken by Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, Miss Hildreth Burton Smith and Lamar Hill.

GUARANTEE TRUST CASE NEARING CONCLUSION

In the receivership suit against the Guarantee Trust and Banking company, brought by certain stock and bondholders and which has been occupying the time of the superior court for a week, the conclusion of the plaintiffs' pleas and depositions is expected after about an hour and half session today.

The defense will then take the stand and endeavor to rebut the reasons advanced by the plaintiffs and to show cause why the company should not be thrown into the hands of a receiver.

By the end of this week it is expected that the case will be concluded. The case has attracted unusual attention because of the allegations made against President Samuel E. Smith and other officers of mismanagement and fraud in the organization of the present company, which, it is claimed, was formed in order that certain men might unload the stock of a previous concern, which is said to have proven a failure.

Boston, May 13.—Boston's string of victories was broken today when St. Louis won, 4 to 3. Perdue was effective in all but one inning, the fifth, during which the visitors scored three runs on three singles and a triple. Boston had scored its three runs in the preceding inning when, following two singles, Mann hit to left field. The hit got past Magee and Mann scored with two men before him. Boston got two men on base in the ninth, with one out, but a pop fly and strike-out ended the game.

Curtis was enough to win, but they knocked Fromme out of the box in the fifth when two singles and Fisher's long triple scored two more runs Fromme, a semi-professional from Cincinnati finished the game, and allowed but one hit. A sensational one-hand catch by Bates of Daubert's line drive against the right field wall was a feature.

CENTRAL ROAD HEAD TALKS ON THE TARIFF

Savannah, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—That agitation of the tariff question by the democratic government has resulted in a cessation of mining and manufacturing and that stocks have been allowed to run down in consequence is the opinion of President C. H. Markham, of the Central railway, who is here today.

All lines of manufactured goods affected by the tariff, said Mr. Markham, have been allowed to run down to the lowest possible point because of the apprehensions entertained regarding the tariff, since no one wants to stock up on articles which may be affected by lower tariff rates. People generally, says the Central's president, want to see an early settlement of the question and to know exactly what commodities will be most affected and exactly what the proposed changes will be. They also want to know what the policy of the new administration is to be.

The effect of the contraction in stocks of mining and manufactured commodities has affected railroading to a certain extent.

ACTION ON HAWTHORNE KEPT FROM THE PUBLIC

Washington, May 13.—The eligibility for parole during the next few months of Julian Hawthorne and Dr. William J. Morton, convicted in New York of misuse of the mails, and many other prisoners serving terms in the Atlanta penitentiary, has been determined by the federal parole board, but the results are withheld from the public.

Hawthorne and Morton will have served the necessary one-third of their sentences on July 25, and, provided the parole board and Attorney General McReynolds approve, they will be released at that time. Robert V. LaDow, president of the parole board, returned to Washington today from a meeting at Atlanta, prepared to make recommendations to the attorney general. These will be made in each case shortly before the date on which a prisoner is eligible for release.

Within a few days Mr. LaDow will go to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for a parole meeting there, after which he will attend a similar meeting at the McNeil Island, Washington, penitentiary.

CALL TO TELEPHONE SAVES LIFE OF BABY

Athens, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Yesterday afternoon a call to the phone answered by Mrs. Ben Betts saved the life of her little babe, who was lying wrapped in a comfort before an open grate in which a fire was burning. She had started to leave the room, but the phone called her back and while she was answering, the grate fell out and coals rolled over the floor. The rug and even the cover about the baby were burned, but the mother saved her little one from even a tiny scorch.

FIRST NEWSPAPER IN THE ANTARCTIC

Melbourne, May 13.—Dr. Douglas Mawson, the Australian explorer, and six members of his expedition to the south polar regions, who have been forced to spend the winter on Adelie land, sent a wireless announcement of the establishment of The Blizzard, the first newspaper to be regularly printed in the antarctic. It promises its readers all the news of the south polar regions once a month, and starts out with a 26-page number. The circulation is at present limited, however, to the members of the staff, the only human beings on this barren tract. The members of the party are all reported well, although almost snowed up in their huts.

Atlanta Eagles, Over 200 Strong, Enjoy Smoker and Dutch Supper

Fraternal spirit and good fellowship reigned supreme last night in the Eagles' aerie, located on the top floor of the Steiner-Emery building, when the Fraternal Order of Eagles, one of Atlanta's largest and most influential fraternal organizations, held a smoker and Dutch supper for its members.

The membership of the Atlanta aerie is made up of men from all walks of life, including tradesmen and artisans and lawyers, doctors and politicians, and all classes and professions. In the order the reigning spirit of democracy which flourishes in the local lodge was strikingly brought out by the members who gathered over 200 strong and mingled with each other for three hours of enjoyment and fun.

The club rooms, which take up the entire floor and are handsomely fitted up and decorated, have just been repainted and the walls have recently been retinted, so that there was an air of freshness and neatness about the rooms from end to end.

All of the rooms on one side of the long hallway are arranged so that they may be thrown into one, and down this length of rooms was placed a long table upon which the feast of the evening was spread.

The present officers of the lodge are John F. Smith, president; E. H. McDonald, vice president; W. S. Routh, chaplain; H. A. Fischer, secretary; J. J. Barnes, Jr., treasurer, and S. R. Green, steward.

C. S. COPPEDGE GETS 8 MONTHS ON GANG FOR MANY SWINDLES

Savannah, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—A career of irresponsibility was for a time checked when C. S. Coppedge, a young man of Sylvania, pleaded guilty in the city court today to seven charges of cheating and swinding and was given a combined sentence of eight months on the chaingang.

Coppedge, who is well educated, has capitalized the popularity of his grandfather, who was clerk in the city court of Sylvania, and his uncle, the Hon. J. W. Overstreet. For more than a year the lad has operated in Savannah, Atlanta, Waynesboro and other places, where his indulgent relatives are well known, and on the strength of this acquaintance has obtained small sums of money from persons mostly in professional life.

Although he has obtained sums of money from more than 100 persons, his operations running over a period of more than a year, this is the first time he has been arraigned in court.

Hon. J. W. Overstreet, of Sylvania, appeared for the prisoner. He told Judge Freeman frankly the story of the boy's life for the purpose of aiding the court in determining what punishment should be given. The boy's father died when he was only a few months old. His mother married a few months later and Coppedge was reared by his grandfather of Sylvania. Mr. Overstreet said he had splendid training, but was indulged too much.

BABY NEARLY BURNED AS FAMILY SLUMBERS

Athens, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—When the dwelling house of H. A. Weatherly was burned—the residence being some distance out on the Winterville road—the pillow upon which the curly head of the youngest child was lying was actually scorched before anyone in the building knew that the home was in flames. It was about 4 o'clock in the morning. The father, mother and eight children lay sleeping. The fire originated in an upper room in which there had been no fire in a month and into which room no one had been for several days. The family all escaped with their lives, but did not save a thread of clothing save the night clothing they wore. Neighbors fitted them up. There was not time to save furniture or books or any of the family treasures.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

COTTON BECAME WEAK AFTER EARLY ADVANCE

Market Closed Steady at Net Decline of Five to Seven Points.

New York, May 13.—An early advance carried July contracts into new high ground in today's cotton market, but prices later weakened under realizing and a renewal of bear pressure, with the close steady at a net decline of 5 to 7 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 4 points, in response to higher cables than expected and there seemed to be quite a good many overnight buying orders around the spring. Weather advices were considered more favorable, as they showed somewhat higher temperatures in the south and suggested further showers for the eastern belt, but there seemed to be more or less uneasiness over the probable showing of the weekly weather report and the market also received considerable support from houses with foreign connections. At any rate, prices worked higher shortly after the call and July contracts sold at 11.71, or about 40 points up from the recent low point, while the general list went about 30 points above the closing figures of yesterday. At this level realizing became active enough to check the upward movement, and when it was found that the weekly weather report, although complaining of droughty conditions in the eastern belt, had failed to stimulate any fresh buying of consequence, sellers became more aggressive.

There was little or no change in the general average of new crop advices, but a slack demand was reported for spot cotton.

Closing prices were steadied by the realizing of early sellers, but last prices were at practically the lowest point of the day. Over May nothing were issued early, but there was very little trading in that position.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 12.19; do, gulf 12.35; sales, 101 bales.

Dry Goods.

New York, May 13.—Cotton goods markets steady but quiet for cash. Wearing yarns are lower. The auction sale of carpets went on satisfactorily below being within 5 per cent of the price paid two weeks ago for similar merchandise. Jobbers report a steady trade for fall.

Remarks.

Except in the coast districts of Georgia and Carolinas temperatures are higher over the belt. Light scattered showers occurred in Oklahoma, Montgomery, Mobile and Savannah districts.

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Section Director Weather Bureau.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, May 13.—Favorable cables from Liverpool, and continuing rains throughout the Carolinas and Georgia, restricted selling at the opening today and considerable demand from shorts advanced prices about 6 points before becoming satisfied. With this early buying out of the way, however, values declined, under renewed selling, which increased upon the issuance of the weekly weather report. This showed that except for the eastern cotton states the weather had been favorable during the past week and that the plant is making satisfactory progress.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, May 13.—The cotton market moved within a narrow range today, first above and then below the level of yesterday's close. There seemed to be less bearish sentiment than for some time past and shorts were disposed to cover, but, at the same time, there was little aggressiveness on the bull side and in the afternoon the market fell off, following weekly weather reports that were unfavorable to the opinion of the majority of brokers and traders.

The opening was steady, with prices unchanged to 1 point up, compared with the last quotations of yesterday. Cables offered no encouragement to either side and weather news was about evenly divided, reports of rains in districts that needed moisture being offset by complaints of cold weather and resulting failure of seed to germinate and young plants to make headway and growth. In the early trading, prices went 2 to 5 points over yesterday's close. This was the high of the day. Scalpers were inclined to take the short side for a turn and the market sagged gradually until prices were 6 to 8 points under yesterday's figures.

The weekly weather summary of conditions over the cotton region confirmed reports of drouth and cold nights, but led to no buying. The market closed steady at a net decline of 4 to 6 points.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, May 13.—The market looked very strong during the morning, but there was a break during the afternoon, and the close was 6 points lower than that of yesterday on the active months. There is a good deal of cotton that was taken up on May tenders being retendered and it does not look as though any one would be very keen for the stock that will be left here in July, and this in spite of the fact that there has been a great deal of buying of July against sales of October. Many well-posted people believe that at present differences July is the best sale on the board. Reports from abroad show that the mill business is in a very satisfactory condition and foreigners continue to pick up new crop months in a quiet way on the weak spots.

Liverpool is due to come 3¼ to 4½ points down.

WHEAT CLOSED WEAK AND AT NET DECLINE

Lack of Foreign Demand and Promise of Big Crop Caused Loss.

Chicago, May 13.—Absence of foreign demand combined today with bumper crops ahead to deprive the wheat market of strength. The close was weak, 7-8 to 1 cent under last night. Corn finished 3-8 to 5-8@⅝ cent down and oats off 2-8 to 1-2 to 7-8 cent. Provisions closed unchanged to 25 cents higher.

Bears ruled wheat from the start. The break was checked only through covering purchasing by a group of big houses. Weakness developed worst after the receipt of telegrams from the Seaboard announcing that in addition to there being no export inquiry whatever, resellers were active abroad at two cents under the offers from here. Rains over the usually dry counties in northern Kansas were reported as having supplied sufficient moisture to carry wheat to harvest. Ideal weather elsewhere and splendid crop prospects, both foreign and domestic, brought about selling pressure, which increased notably in the last hour. Primary receipts of wheat today were 885,000 bushels; last year, 450,000. Exports of wheat and flour today equalled 746,000 bushels.

Decided increase was promised in country sales to arrive next week pulled down corn. Reports from all quarters were favorable in regard to planting.

Illinois rains lowered corn 1@1½. There was much unloading by rural speculators.

Commission house buying, said to be for packing account, was a provision feature. In the face of this influence, offerings became notably scare.

CREEPING ADVANCE IN PRICES OF STOCKS

Traders Reluctant to Commit Themselves on Either Side of Market.

New York, May 13.—The drift of prices on the stock exchange was upward and while the volume was small and the movement nothing but a slow, creeping advance, the close of the session found not a few of the leading shares a point or so higher than at the close yesterday. Speculation still reflected the reluctance of traders to commit themselves heavily on either side of the market so long as the uncertainties regarding the present situation continue to obscure the outlook for securities.

An important feature of the day's trading was the absence of selling pressure. Stocks were scarce and it was inferred that the market was again in a sold-out condition, which made the technical position comparatively strong. The borrowing demand for Steel, in particular, was unusually heavy, and reduced the size of the short interest in this speculative favorite ran into large figures.

Traders took advantage of conditions to make a display at the expense of the bears, whose efforts to cover aided in placing stocks on a higher range.

Resumption of trading on the European exchanges, after a triple holiday, was of influence on this market. The effect of the more cheerful feeling in London was reflected by moderate buying for foreign account. It was estimated that London took 10,000 shares on balance. Notwithstanding the firm undertone of the market, there was some further selling of stocks which had exhibited marked heaviness recently. Several stocks, including Pennsylvania and Jersey Central, touched new low records for the moment. Canadian Pacific was sold persistently, at one time falling back more than 2 points. Trading in Consolidated Gas was unusually active and that stock was one of the strong features of the list.

WOULD FACILITATE COURT PROCEDURE

Bar Association Will Ask for the Appointment of an "Information Deputy."

For the purpose of facilitating the civil court trials in Fulton county quest that he be allowed to appoint public generally to less trouble and inconvenience, a committee from the Atlanta Bar association will confer with the board of county commissioners this morning with a view to securing the appointment of a clerk to be designated "Information Deputy," who shall have an "information room," with telephone, to keep in touch with all court calendars, lawyers and other parties at interest.

It is believed such a system will be a great help to every one who has any dealings with the civil courts.

Arnold Broyles, superior court clerk, will appear with the committee and request that he be allowed to appoint such an "information deputy" with a special office.

How Trouble Is Caused.

One of the troubles with the courts in Atlanta is that three, and sometimes four, courts are going at the same time. There will be four or five cases set for each day, and none of the judges or lawyers are able to excuse parties and witnesses; so that, as often a case set for Monday may not be reached until Friday, the parties and witnesses lose a great deal of time attendig court because they have not been excused from attendance.

The Atlanta Bar association, a short while ago, named a special committee on rules and practice, composed of Burton Smith, chairman; Judge T. P. Westmoreland, R. C. Alston, Ben J. Conyers, Hudson Moore, E. M. Underwood, Jack J. Hastings, Arminus Wright, Arthur Heyman and Archbald H. Davis.

At the last meeting of the association a resolution was passed directing this committee to confer with the clerk and county commissioners, and ask that a deputy clerk be given a room and one or more telephones in the courthouse for the special purpose of keeping himself informed as to the status of the calendars in the various courts trying civil business, and to furnish this information, upon request, to members of the bar and parties and litigants, this clerk to be designated as "information deputy," and the room as "information room."

Purpose of the Movement.

Attorney Burton Smith, chairman of this committee, in speaking of the matter, said:

"The purpose of the Atlanta Bar association in appointing this committee was to have some specified members of the bar charged with the duty of conferring with the judges and officers of courts and facilitate the administration of the business of the courts.

"The first positive recommendation we have made is the appointment of the information deupty. He will be able to give information to lawyers and litigants. He will keep up with the various courts, saving much time for lawyers and their clients; and also witnesses, or parties going to the courthouse, will be able to find out from him where the case in which they are interested is being heard, and when. He will be able to give information to all parties having business with the courts, and that will be of great benefit to the community.

"Our committee has a number of other important plans under consideration, and we hope to be of much benefit in speeding the administration of justice, and in aiding all persons having business with the courts."

"He who fights and gets beat up doesn't get much revenge. Therefore, if the kink that elopes with your wife is bigger'n you, call a cop."

No, that isn't exactly a quotation from Shakespeare; it's the modernized philosophy of Edward M. Brown, of 20 Hayden street, who went to the Terminal station Tuesday morning, his heart full of wrath against J. G. Reeves, a real estate dealer, who, Brown alleges, sloped with his bride of four months Monday.

Reeves arrived, finally, and Brown started after him. Then, when he began to think how very small he was and how very large Reeves was, he decided that prudence was the better part of valor, and hied him to the police station.

There, he claims, he was told to "get a gun and shoot Reeves." He didn't want to do this, though, and declared that he would have both Reeves and his wife arrested.

He said that the real estate agent took his 17-year-old wife with him to Macon Monday, after having showered her with attentions for the last three weeks.

These were from San Francisco, Los Angeles and other California points. Another party from California were taken over the the Santa Fe route in two special cars.

Four thousand people are expected to be in attendance at this big meeting of the Adventists. Delegates representing their work in all parts of the world will be present. According to leaders of the denomination, this will be the largest and most important meeting they have ever held.

JURY REFORM MEASURE BEATEN IN NEW JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., May 13.—The senate today defeated the jury reform bill passed yesterday by the house. Attached to it was an amendment providing for referendum, and the statement was made taht the bill, as amended, had been approved by Joseph P. Tumulty, President Wilson's secretary. Today the republican senators voted solidly against it. The democrats could muster only ten votes in its favor, eleven being necessary to pass the measure.

Previously the jury reform bill favored by the republicans was defeated, the democrats all voting against it.

The outlook for the passage of jury reform legislation at the extraordinary session of the legislature is not bright.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR COTTON CROP

Records of 1896 and 1906, Two Dry Years, Leave No Reason for Farmers to Be Apprehensive in 1913.

A comparison of the cotton crops in Georgia for 1896 and 1906, when there was a very small rainfall, with the crop last year, when there was plenty of early spring rain, does not leave any reason for the farmers to feel apprehensive about this year's crop. The figures make such a showing that there is every reason to believe there will be a very excellent average crop this year if there is anything like reasonable conditions from now on.

In 1896, the cotton acreage in Georgia was 3,468,335, and the number of bales that year was 1,299,846. The rainfall that year during the month of April, according to the reports of the local weather bureau, was .58 inches.

In 1906 and 1912.

In 1906, the acreage in the state was 4,610,000, and the crop showed a total of 1,677,866 bales. The rainfall in April that year was .81 inches.

This year the rainfall in April was .54 inches.

The April rain record this year is smaller than for thirty-four years back, with the exception of the years 1896 and 1906.

In 1912, with an acreage of 5,500,000, and with plenty of rain in the spring, the total crop was only 1,843,303.

That is, with a very heavy increase in the acreage and with no drought, the crop last year was only a little over 200,000 bales more as compared with the crop of 1906. There were more than 2,000,000 acres in cotton last year than there was in 1896, and yet the dry year's crop, with the small acreage, was only 500,000 bales behind the crop of the wet year, with the large acreage.

Bumper Crop in 1911.

The crop of 1911 was 2,845,793 bales, with an acreage of 5,504,000, but that was a "bumper crop," one that had not been equalled in the south for many years. The entire season from January to October was propitious. There was just enough rain when rain was needed, and just enough dry, warm weather for plowing and picking.

But even with the present dry spell the outlook cannot be taken to mean a small crop of cotton, for, as stated, other dry years with a drought in April, did not result in a small crop as compared with the total acreage.

MERCER TO INVESTIGATE MILLTOWN TROUBLE

Game and Fish Commissioner Going in Person to Scene of Recent Trouble.

State Commissioner of Game and Fish Jesse E. Mercer will leave Atlanta tonight for Milltown, the Berrien county town, which has been the seat of the alleged fishing troubles for the past several weeks.

"I want to look into the situation," stated Captain Mercer Tuesday morning. "If anybody has been done a wrong I will see that it is righted. I do not desire to have any innocent person arrested or tried. It may be that some of those against whom warrants have been taken out own or believe they own property rights in the mill pond. Those who persist in openly defying the law, will have to be punished, and the illegal fishing stopped.

"I believe I can talk the matter over with the Milltown people and reach an amicable adjustment before the cases are tried on Monday."

ATLANTIC BEACH

THE NEW CITY BY THE SEA

That Section of the Great Southeast included in Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida is increasing in wealth more rapidly than any other part of the United States. Wealth brings leisure and the right to enjoy the things that wealth can buy. It makes possible the ownership of summer homes in nature's charming spots, where the owner of wealth or of moderate means may pass weeks or even months of each year in genuine rest and recreation.

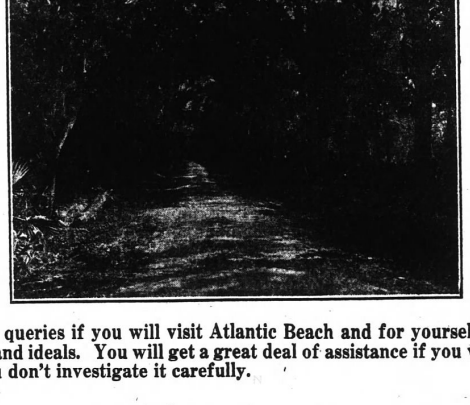
Hundreds of such retreats are being built each season by southern men and women, and it is not a matter of large expenditure, either.

NOW, do you realize that Atlantic Beach, on the east cost of Florida, is more convenient, more easily and quickly reached from Atlanta and all centers west and north of it in Alabama and Tennessee, and from middle and south Georgia towns, than any other resort city on the Atlantic Coast?

Do you know that at Atlantic Beach, surrounding the splendid resort, the Atlantic Beach Hotel, formerly The Continental, a new city is growing up like magic, fully equipped with every modern convenience and necessity?

Do you realize that this new city by the sea is the most important purely civic development ever undertaken in the South and one of the most important in the entire country?

Do you realize that you may build your summer home here and surround your family and yourself with every comfort that you have in your winter home?



This new city—and it is substantial and permanent, not a mere seaside summer resort—is located by the finest ocean beach on the Atlantic Coast. It offers you a home ready soon for your occupancy, or a site for a home that you may create for yourself, overhanging the ocean itself, or back among the great oaks, palms and magnolias—there are no more beautiful surroundings anywhere. You may occupy your home here for three or six months of the year and rent it for the other six.

You are studying over the question: How and where shall I spend my vacations? Now ask yourself the other question, and ask it seriously: Why not come to Atlantic Beach? Why not have here a permanent home where you may come at any and all seasons for rest and recreation? Do you know a really good reason why you should not come here, rather than go to any other place? Nowhere else can you get closer to nature, and in a briefer time get again into touch with the busy outside world.

You can get much help to answer these queries if you will visit Atlantic Beach and for yourself see these wonderful developments, find out how exactly they will fit in with your wishes and ideals. You will get a great deal of assistance if you will write for information. The matter is so important that you will make a mistake if you don't investigate it carefully.

OLD GUARD PARTY WILL BE LARGER

More Members Will Be Able to Make the Trip to Eastern Cities Than Was at First Expected.

Captain and Quartermaster Bolling H. Jones, of the Old Guard of the Gate City Guard, announces that the proportion of members who will go on the approaching visit to the eastern cities will probably be larger than was at first expected.

Several members of Atlanta's distinguished military organization, who were originally not able to make their plans so as to take in the trip, have now made arrangements to go, and several more who will be in the east at the time, are planning to join the command at Washington.

So far as is known here, the Old Guard will be the first military organization in the United States to enjoy the honor of being welcomed to the white house at a special reception by President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

All the details for the big trip are being worked out satisfactorily along the lines originally planned. The entire battalion, consisting of 120 or more men, will assemble in full dress uniform at the Piedmont hotel next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. They will march to the Terminal station, escorted by a band of officers of the Seventeenth regiment at Fort McPherson, and by National Guard officers. In every city which they visit they will be met at the train by music and military organizations.

The trip is attracting nation-wide interest. Mention of it is being made in leading weekly publications and magazines. Special writers will be assigned to it by the big northern periodicals and motion picture men will be ready along the route with their cameras.

ATLANTA THEATERGOERS WILL NAME NEXT PLAY

Theatergoers of Atlanta have been invited to select the play which will be produced by the Billy Long company the week after next. They will begin voting this afternoon at the matinee performance of "Are You a Mason?" and will continue voting during the week. "The Deep Purple" will be given next week, but the management of the theater is anxious that the playgoers speak their desires.

Cards have been printed and will be distributed this afternoon among all who attend the performance. Five plays are named on this card from which one is to be selected. These five are favorites in Atlanta, but the choice has never been voted before. The five are "Raffles," "St. Elmo," "Under Two Flags," "At Piney Ridge" and "Our New Minister."

Specifications can be had by applying at comptroller's office.

TWO TILE COMPANIES MAKE APPEAL TO LAW

Both Claim the Right to Fix Sidewalks for Propery Owners.

In a temporary injunction, secured yesterday from Judge J. T. Pendleton, in the superior court, by the Lee Tile and Construction company to restrain the Cement Tile and Stone company and the city of Atlanta from laying sidewalk tiles or concrete curbing on the south side of Williams' Mill road, is laid bare a peculiar situation, which, if true, as claimed, shows a peculiar mix-up of affairs in the office of the chief of construction.

The petitioners claim that the city has a contract with the defendant company by which it does all such work when property owners fail to have it attended to. It also states that both these property owners had been notified previously and that their time for laying the sidewalk had run out, but that it had run out because the office of the chief of construction delayed the matter of granting plans to the Lee concern, accents for the property owners.

Now it is claimed if the defendant concern is allowed to complete its work the petitioners will be out of a job and the property owners will have to pay the city an assessment for work which they have already contracted with another concern.

A permanent hearing is set for May 17. Until then the work is halted.

WITH THE THEATERS.

"Are You a Mason?"
(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon Miss Billy Long and her associate players will be seen in a matinee performance of "Are You a Mason?" the excruciatingly funny farce comedy which is the bill at the Atlanta this week. Thus far it has scored a big hit and the company is being heaped with praise for its fine, clean work. No performance will be given tonight, though the bill will be presented every other night and at Saturday's second matinee. Next week the company will play "The Deep Purple," which has never been seen in Atlanta, and which is one of the most sensational hits of recent years. "The Deep Purple" is a play that will cause more talk than anything given this season, and has been most excellently cast for the Atlanta. It is the reverse of comedy and gives fine scope for the players. Seats go on sale this afternoon.

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)

The bill at the Forsyth this week is enlisting attention not only from the regular theatergoers, but from that multitude of people who want and insist upon entertainment that is worth while. The bill of seven acts covers every known variety of entertainment. It is the sort of show that keeps people talking for weeks about what they have seen or heard. Paul Dickey, the Michigan football star, is something more than an athlete. He is an actor of the Bob Edison sort. He is a favorite after four performances and that is more than lots of people of the footlights can claim.

E. L. ADAMS IS HEAD OF THE CREDIT MEN

More Stringent Garnishment Laws Are Favored by This Organization.

An insight into the business that goes forth from Atlanta and threads its way throughout the entire south was shown by the report made last night by H. B. Wey, chairman of the information bureau of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men when he stated that there are on his lists the names of 175,000 southern merchants with whom members of the organization do business.

The occasion was the annual dinner of the credit men and over 100 of them assembled in the main dining room of the Piedmont hotel to elect officers and consult with each other over ways and means of promoting their work for the coming fiscal year.

E. L. Adams was chosen president and the following other officers and committees were elected: C. L. Elyea, first vice president; R. F. Boykin, second vice president; H. T. Moore, secretary; E. L. Rhodes, treasurer; Ralph Rosenbaum, Bolling H. Jones, C. V. Logan, S. Prietag, L. E. Floyd and J. W. Harlan, executive committee.

Delegates to Convention.

As delegates to the national convention which meets in Cincinnati, June 17-20, the following were selected: President Adams, Vice President Elyea, J. L. Baldwin, C. V. Logan, S. Prietag, E. S. Papys, L. E. Floyd and Secretary Moore.

Herbert E. Choae, retiring president, acted as toastmaster. Ex-Congressman W. G. Brantley had been selected to make an address, but upon his being detained by legal business in Waycross, his son, W. G. Brantley, Jr., accepted an invitation to take his father's place, and made a strong speech in which he urged that the business men of today take greater interest in the politics of the nation.

A report of the membership committee showed that there are at present 158 members, and that 52 of these have been added within the past fiscal year.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members voted that their legislative committee should assist the grocers' association in getting the Georgia legislature to pass more stringent garnishment laws and also a law holding more responsible the passer of a worthless check.

President Adams' Address.

The keynote of President Adams' speech, on being elected, was the need for better collections and he stressed the need for ways and means that would prevent the small merchant from running head over heels into debt and would also protect him from the consumer who refuses to pay his just debts.

Other features of the work of the organization were shown in various reports. Among them was the report of Chairman Rosenbaum, of the adjustment committee, who told of the amicable adjustment of a number of credit matters and also of the need of a collection agency as an adjunct to the adjustment bureau.

The names of the men selected for the various standing committees will be announced after a meeting of the executive committee by whom they are appointed.

NEWSBOYS ARE FEASTED BY S. V. D. FRATERNITY

You couldn't buy a newspaper on the streets of Atlanta last night between 9 and 10 o'clock, and for once the familiar cry of "Paper—all about the murder," was not heard on every corner, for the S. V. D. fraternity of Atlanta had given the natives a big feast in the Young Men's Christian association with plenty of entertainment besides.

Undoubtedly this was the biggest dinner ever given to newsboys in Atlanta, fully 500 being present.

Miss Mary Roberts Steadwell, one of the clever impersonators of the day, was brought from Tennessee especially to entertain the boys on this occasion. Miss Steadwell did something that few other impersonators are able to do—she held the attention of the hardest audience in the world, a crowd of 500 street boys. With her tales of "br'er rabbit" and "br'er fox" and the boy that wasn't going to cry anymore, she made the little fellows forget for the time being their troubles of the day. At the close of her program they gave her the greatest testimonial possible—three lusty cheers from throats that knew how. She is one of the most talented readers ever heard in Atlanta.

Much of the success of the evening was due to Mrs. Emma Neal Douglas, who had worked for many weeks to bring the evening to a successful completion. Seldom, if ever, have the newsies of Atlanta had such a treat.
